

The 1948 Review

Published in May, 1948, by the students of John Burroughs School, 755 South Price Road,

Clayton 5, Missouri.

Volume XIV

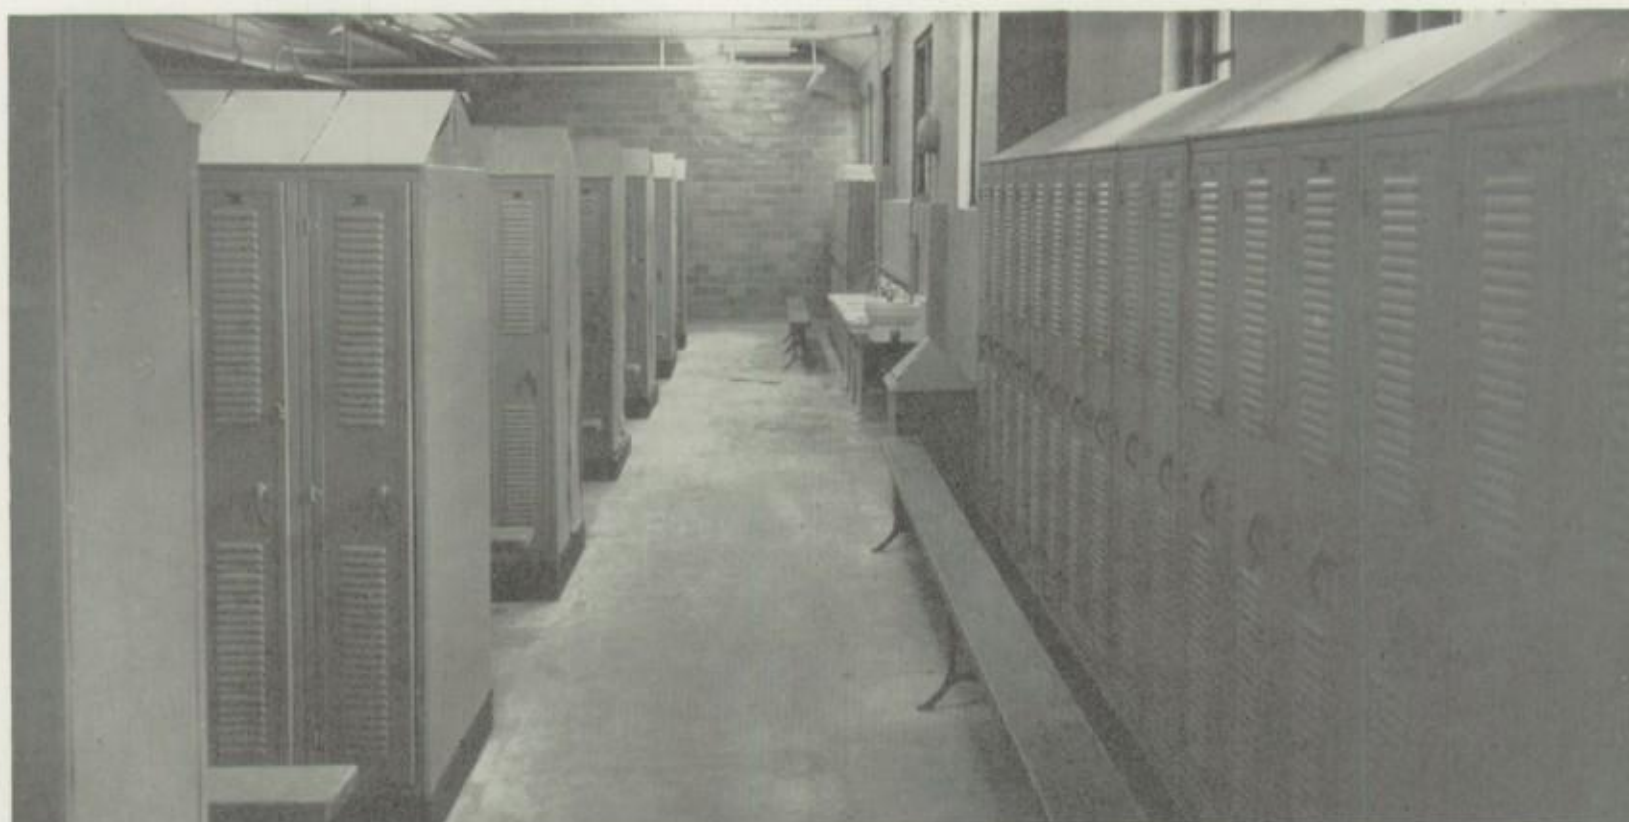

You are cordially invited to visit John Burroughs School, which is now celebrating its twenty-fifth anniversary.

The Review for 1948

is presented by the Senior class of John Burroughs School for your enjoyment. Twenty-five years of growing have endeared John Burroughs School to parents, alumni, and students. In the following pages we hope to show you some parts of our daily living by discussing and picturing our activities in classes, physical education, vocational and avocational activities, and in other social situations.

New athletic facilities are a compliment to the interest shown by parents and other friends of John Burroughs School.

whose fine personality and devotion to his teaching have made him one of the best liked and most admired members of the John Burroughs School faculty. Dr. Sibley has served the students of John Burroughs School not only by his unsurpassed ability to teach concepts of science, but has also given them the many intangible benefits afforded by his unselfish character. Everyone in the Senior Class is proud to call him his friend.

Administration

To the Seniors:

You complete your John Burroughs School education the same year the school celebrates its twenty-fifth anniversary. You have a great future; the school has a great future. Up until now you have depended upon the school for educational guidance; now the school will begin to depend upon you. During the next twenty-five years in the life of John Burroughs School what you do to Build a Better Burroughs will be important. May we start you off with most hearty good wishes for immediate and lasting happiness.

Sincerely and affectionately,

L. D. Haertter
Director,
John Burroughs School

Board of Trustees

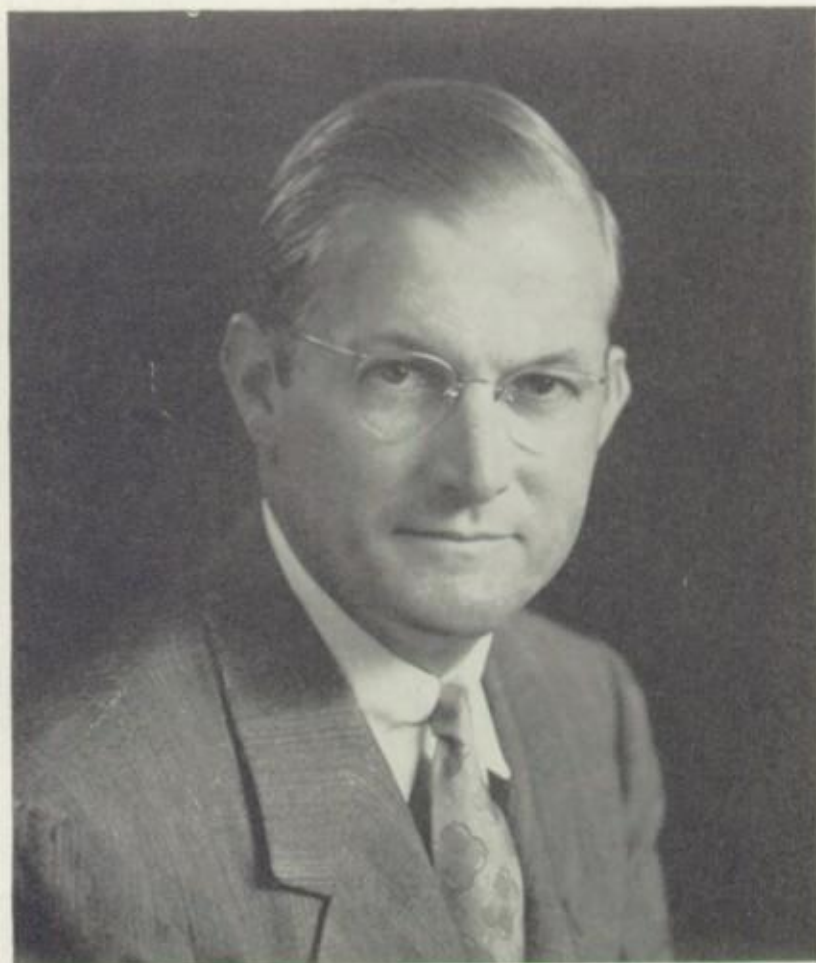

To the Seniors,

Your Board of Trustees wishes you happiness and success. The twenty-fifth anniversary of John Burroughs School is a tribute to those parents and pupils who made and continue to make this school one of the outstanding private secondary schools in the country. You and your parents have played your part, and now I wish to thank you in the name of the Board of Trustees. Together we shall continue to Build a Better Burroughs.

Sincerely,

James B. Costen

President of the Board of Trustees

Classes

Academic classes in John Burroughs School are held in an atmosphere of intelligent informality. The fact that pupils and teachers have mutual respect for each other allows the individual student to express his ideas freely.

Z to A

1948!! — the most memorable year in the history of John Burroughs School—saw the dedication of our new gym, the Twenty-fifth Anniversary of the founding of the school, and most important, the graduation of the class of '48! Needless to say, we wanted to graduate on time; so we started off the year by electing Bill Hedley, President of the class; Ray Bolin, Vice-President, and Joanne Gravely, Secretary-Treasurer. We noticed that we had lost Jim Brown, but had added John McNaugher. Girls played an important part in our class this year with Chris Dyer as Speaker of the Assembly; Betsy Bowen, Secretary of the Assembly, Betty Bry and Nancy Jackes, co-editors of the Review; and Violette Simon, Editor of the Yearbook. Not to be outdone, the boys worked hard and won the Country Day Game 6—0. Prior to this, they did not play so well at Pembroke, in Kansas City. Will the girls and Mrs. Williamson ever forget Betsy's crutches and the frantic calls to "Room Service" up in the dear ol' Muehlebach?

After months of hard work, we produced the play "The Trojan Women". We cannot pass this by without giving special recognition to Sarah Metcalfe in her wonderful portrayal of Hecuba; Barbara Kerbey as Helen of Troy; Ann Larimore as Athene; George Gay as Poseidon; the wonderful cast of the Trojan Women (How can we ever forget such memorable lines as "What News?" This Astyanax, dead, and "The crash of the Citadel!") and all those who worked hard backstage.

About this time we were begged by our advisers, Mrs. Williamson and Dr. Rosskopf, to begin thinking about our college applications. These thoughts were lost in the midst of our preparations for the Christmas Pageant. Not only did Ruth Heinrich come up with a different design, but even with different colors. After working so hard on the pageant, we were anxious to see the finished product (our last one to be viewed as students, and the first to be viewed in the new gym). With much expectation we listened to Sarah Metcalfe and Bill Hedley narrate the beautiful Christmas Story. As Martha Cayce sang the traditional Mary's Lullabye, the tableau was revealed more beautiful than any other previous one. We saw that Mary was portrayed by Carol Draughon and Joseph by Jim Caselton. We were also surprised to find that Mary McKinley and Carol Deakin were angels (not that they always aren't!).

Scarcely recovering our breath from Christmas Vacation, work was begun on preparations for our class party, under the able guidance of Mrs. Sarah Tracy Cahill, who was our adviser during Mrs. Chester Williamson's absence. The class party turned out to be the best one ever. Four skits were given by the girls and one by the boys (remember Gypsy Rose Stupp?).

The week before examinations we received the long desired Senior Privileges, which carried us happily through.

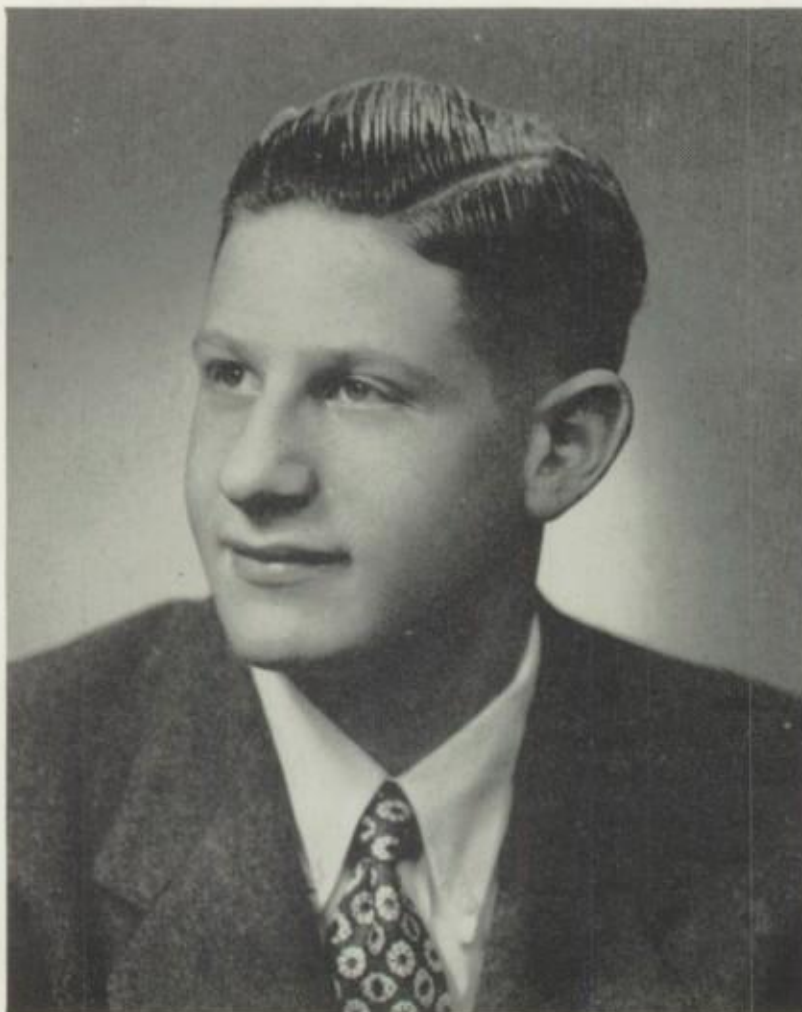

Preparations were now begun on the Senior Girls Leap Year Dance. Annette Gardner was the general chairman, and Ann Larimore took charge of the design titled "Underwater." This dance proved to be a great success, as well as a spectacular event. College Board examinations were soon before us. Some of the twelve Senior girls who were taking Senior Math were glad then, even though their motto for these classes was "you can't win," which statement seemed very familiar to the one we had when we entered Burroughs in 1942.

1942 — six years ago, we were first introduced to each other at parties given for us by our "big brothers" and "big sisters." After being introduced, we elected Barbara McAfee and Jerry Loy as chairmen of our adviseries.

The "04" helped us to become better acquainted, and provided many interesting experiences (re-

ROBERT ARNSTEIN

Bob is one of those fellows who will most undoubtedly be a success in life . . . without half trying. He has managed during his four years at J. B. to rack up A's in every subject he has been subjected to. And at sports he has shown equally well . . . getting two stripes on both his football and soccer letters. "Bang-gok" has proved to be one of the few subtle wits the class possesses, and frequently has had added much amusement to the German class.

JEAN CLARINDA BAKER

Jean, one of Mr. Weinrich's old reliables, is an ardent baseball fan, with a Cardinal scrap-book from 'way-back. So enthusiastic is she that one day she broke a blood vessel at a game. Latin students this year missed Jean, who was one of the "After Lunch Latin Learners." Jean is always delighted to tell you about West Virginia, where she spends her vacations. Blonde, petite, and gay, Jean's winning ways make friends for her wherever she goes.

"1st foocy."

"It's . . . hoogie."

RAY BOLIN

Ray Bolin, the mighty little fellow, has endeared himself to the hearts of all sports fans by his spectacular play during his Burroughs years. Varsity letters in football, soccer, and baseball adorn his room—not one for each sport, but many times one for each sport. Ray is also an accomplished man who can make a piano "talk", and, besides his many other accomplishments, he does very good work academically! Wherever the outstanding Burroughs personalities are mentioned, Bolin's name will be with the rest.

BETSY LEE BOWEN

A smooth page-boy . . . with a velvet band . . . pine lipstick . . . hand knitted sweaters . . . a champagne laugh . . . calm assurance . . . those deep discussions . . . singing Mozart . . . "The Yeoman of the Guard" and "Patience" . . . Secretary of the Assembly . . . ("At a regular meeting of the John Burroughs Legislative assembly") . . . then locker leaning . . . but much common sense . . . and a blue station wagon . . . and nose drops . . . totals "Bets", whose greatest compliment was "Now there's a girl who thinks things out!"

"Nooo!"

"Where's Mr. Trueman?"

WARREN BRUCE

Warren can be depended upon to add fun and frolic to any gathering. We like to think of him as the lad who put vigor into an A team line on defense. We shall never forget his exit from high school soccer in the last game with Principia. He is the kind of person who plays hard and who plays to win. Academically and socially the wily Scot is tops. He holds some kind of record for entertaining the Obe's Class for the longest sustained period.

BETTY JULIA BRY

"Breezy" is one of the very few who can wear stunning clothes with style. Betty knows good timing—she'll stay out of the limelight 'til just the right moment, then she will top the situation with an inspired suggestion. Her abilities as an outstanding athlete and hard worker have been exhibited for the last three years on the Athletic Council. But even with athletics, good grades, and an intense social life taking up most of her time, Bry is an excellent Co-Editor of the Review.

"A tale told by an idiot."

"I'm sorry."

JAMES ALBERT CASELTON

If you are accosted by a voice originating behind an impenetrable cloud of pipe smoke, it is likely that you are being addressed by Jim Caselton, "J. Schlussbourg," as he is called by members of the Ristish Deutsch class. When Jim is not attending a meeting of the Sculpture Club, he may usually be found with some group of Senior girls. Jim is a versatile chap as is noted by the comprehensiveness of his activities.

MARTHA SUSAN CAYCE

That high, lovely voice hitting D above high C on a low Monday morning belongs to Marty. "Susie's" sweet when everyone else hates the world. She has been a prominent member of the Glee Club since entering Burroughs in the eleventh grade and her singing of "Mary's Lullabye" climaxed the Christmas Pageant. Marty never seems rushed about homework; yet she gets amazing grades. We suspect that Durdlem, the little "phunortan" she carries in her pocket, does her homework for her.

ROBERT COBURN

Bob is one of those rare individuals who are always busy. When he is not doing academic work, he is working around school on odd jobs. He has been a valuable asset to the physical education department because of his help in the gym store. Bob has been an important factor as coordinator of this yearbook. Besides helping in the gym and taking pictures, Bob has maintained a good academic average. All in all, Bob is one of those people who are likely to succeed at whatever they do.

CAROLYN COSTEN

Hockey players! Beware! You won't see her streaking across the field, but she's got the ball everytime. "A" teams just aren't without her. Leadership, popularity, and clear thinking are Cal's. She's President of the Council, climaxing six years of being a Council member. Cal uses the time she saves not putting up her hair, by studying for that B+ average. Callie has a "quiet amusement" (quote). She silently grins at the humor of a class or a good remark, but when she laughs it means — "That was truly comic!"

"Drop dead."

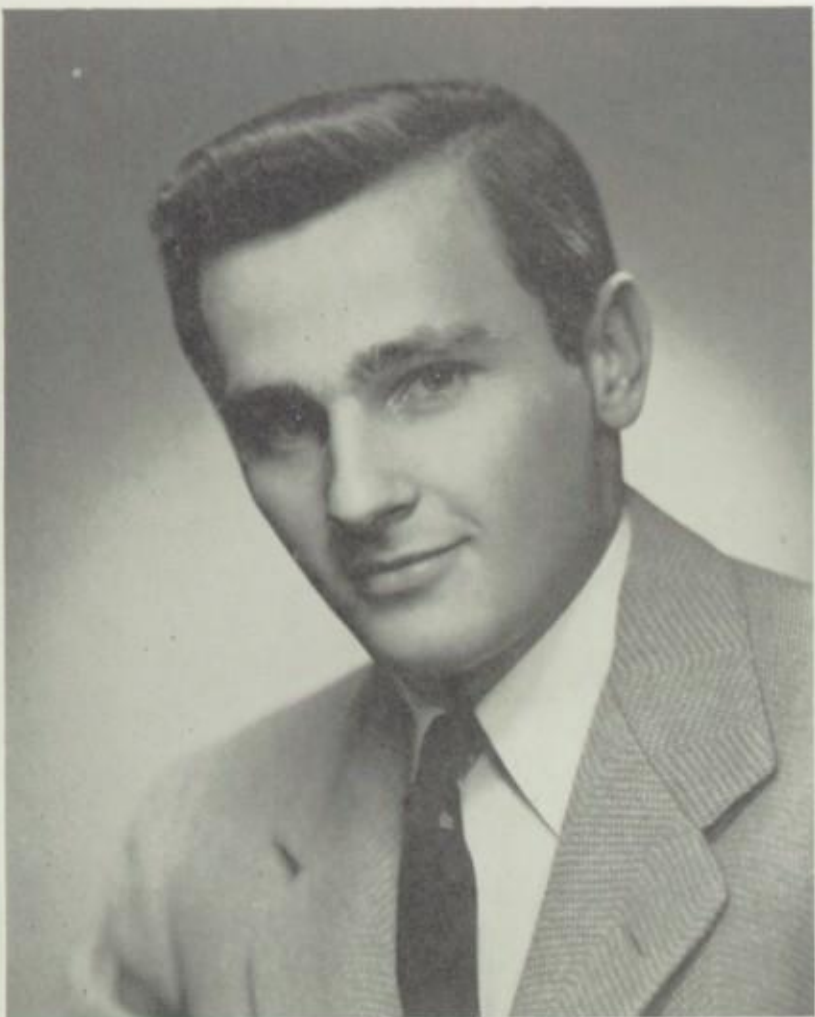

"C'mon, you all!"

ROBERT

TENTH GRADE: Orchestra, World, Photography Club, Manager of all "B" Teams. ELEVENTH GRADE: News Editor of World, Photography Club, Rifle Club, Manager of all "A" Teams. TWELFTH GRADE: Coordinator of Yearbook, Photography Editor of Yearbook, Manager of all "A" Teams.

CAROLYN

TENTH GRADE: Student Council, Glee Club, All "A" Teams, Varsity Hockey, Varsity Tennis, Varsity Baseball, Athletic Medal, "A" Basketball (Captain). ELEVENTH GRADE: Student Council, Glee Club, All "A" Teams, Varsity Hockey, Varsity Tennis, Varsity Baseball. TWELFTH GRADE: President of Student Council, Glee Club, "A" Hockey, Varsity Hockey (Captain).

TIMOTHY MORGAN CORNELI

Five seconds before the tardy bell, a dilapidated, expendable Chevvy rattles into the Burroughs parking lot at an accelerated speed. Having no brakes, the vehicle crashes through the shattered fence, and halts against the far wall of the shop. Mr. Schmitt screams in terror, and flees. After pulling Mr. Blossom from the rafters, Tim Corneli makes his way painfully to the Senior advisory, there to learn that he has just lost his "Senior Privileges." PEPY'S diary has nothing on Corneli's "Journal to New York."

CAROL HURST DEAKIN

Carol is the famous collector of Crosbyana in the senior class but even Der Bingle plays second fiddle to St. Louis baseball. Last year, she put her artistic skill to work drawing the Cardinal team, much to their obvious pleasure. Her sewing is the envy of the Senior girls, especially since she can wear her creations, mainly longer skirts. Carol is one of Mrs. Edsall's outstanding students, and one of the more ambitious Seniors. She plans to study for nine years more — and then nine years more!

TIMOTHY

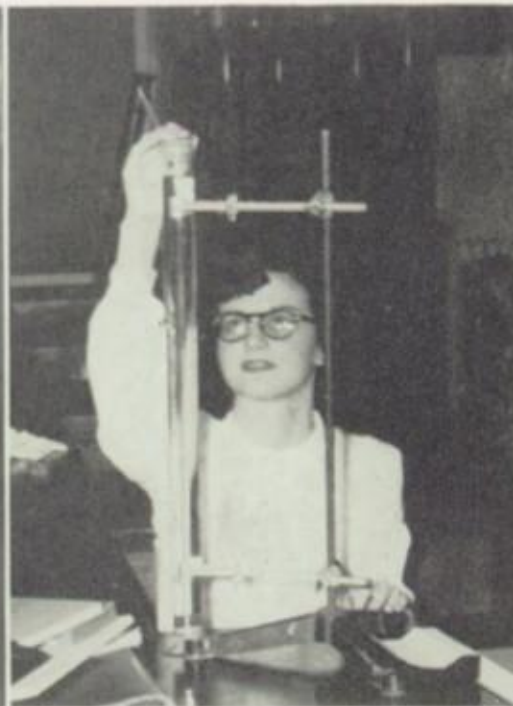

TENTH GRADE: Dramatics, "B" Football, "B" Basketball, "B" Baseball, Secretary of the Class. ELEVENTH GRADE: Dramatics, "A" Soccer, "A" Track, Science Club, Yearbook. TWELFTH GRADE: "A" Football Manager, "A" Soccer.

CAROL

TENTH GRADE: Co-Business Manager of World, Art, Photography. ELEVENTH GRADE: Home Economics, Art, Typing. TWELFTH GRADE: Christmas Pageant, Art.

"Buy Corneli."

"But Obe . . . !"

EMERSON BENJAMIN DRESSER, JR.

A little man with a big smile, that's "Pablo." You can't help liking him. "Pablo" has done good work in athletics, particularly football and soccer, and has been a fine student, too. His sportsmanship is undeniable. Unwilling to disappoint a W.M.A. soccer team, Pablo scored for the Cadets, and the game resulted in a tie. Pablo is quite a hunter, too. He lives in the hills, where hunting in one's front yard is permissible. With all of his talents, our Country Gentlemen is sure to succeed.

CAROL LEE DRAUGHON

Carol's beautiful representation of Mary in the Christmas Pageant has indelibly stamped her upon our already impressed memories. But how could we forget her? Since the seventh grade she has been indispensable. The days we spent making roses for the Prom at her house! The weakness of the hockey team when she's absent! And then — it's always Draughonie who makes "the right remark at the right time." Es verdad? Si!

"Wa-a-a-ll, Gran' Pappie—!"

"Off again!"

EMERSON

TENTH GRADE: Rifle Club, "B" Soccer, "C" Football, "B" Baseball. ELEVENTH GRADE: Photography Club, "B" Football, "B" Soccer, "B" Baseball. TWELFTH GRADE: Junior Academy of Science, Yearbook, "B" Football, "A" Soccer, "A" Tennis Squad.

CAROL

TENTH GRADE: Typing, Home Economics, All "A" Teams, Athletic Medal. ELEVENTH GRADE: Riflery, Photography, Voice and Diction, Home Economics, "A" Hockey (Captain), "A" Basketball, "A" Volleyball, "A" Baseball. TWELFTH GRADE: Mary in Christmas Pageant, Christmas Pageant Production, Home Economics, Dramatics, "A" Hockey.

ROBERT LEONARD EDISON

Bob is an essential member of the class. Always, since seventh grade, "Eddy" has been popular with his classmates, and everyone is amused by his undwindling store of quaint repartee. Whenever interested, Bob has taken an active part in athletics and activities. As a Junior, he sparked the "B" football team at Quarterback. He served for three years on the Review Board. Bob will leave behind him the reputation of being a very loyal member of any discussion group, and of the little man with the big heart.

CLARISSA HUNTINGTON DYER

Chris, the commanding personality of the assembly and the gracious Senior blonde, has endeared herself to faculty and students alike by her fine ability, sincerity, and character. Chris is the athlete and student, as well as the "third girl Speaker" in the history of the school. Her activities are amazing! She's been on the student Council five years, she's news-editor of the World and she's on practically every "A" team. AND everything she does, she does well. You never forget a girl like Chris.

ROBERT

TENTH GRADE: "C" Football, "C" Basketball, "B" Baseball, Review. ELEVENTH GRADE: "B" Football, "B" Basketball, "A" Tennis Squad, Review. TWELFTH GRADE: Review, "A" Football, "A" Basketball, "A" Tennis.

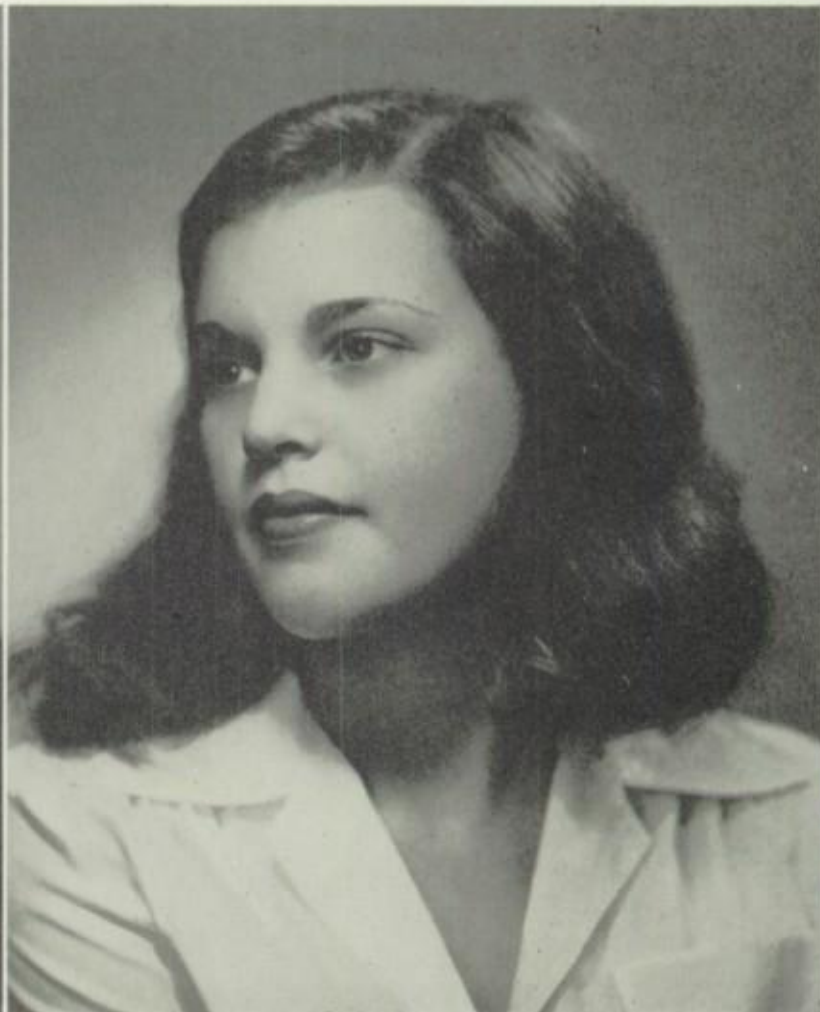

CLARISSA

TENTH GRADE: Social Committee, Chairman of Community Chest, Student Council, Dramatics, Review, Rifery, Yearbook, Glee Club, "A" Hockey (Captain), "A" Soccer, "A" Volleyball, "A" Baseball, "A" Track, Varsity Hockey, Varsity Baseball, Athletic Medal. ELEVENTH GRADE: Chairman of Prom Invitation Committee, Student Council, Burroughs Representative to Inter-Youth Group, Chairman of Community Chest, Dramatics, Glee Club, Review, World, All "A" Teams. TWELFTH GRADE: Speaker of Assembly, Co-Chairman of Human Relations Group, Burroughs Representative to Inter-Youth Group, News Editor of World, Dramatics, Glee Club, Typing Review, "A" Hockey.

"What, are you unbalanced?"

"You can't please Father, too."

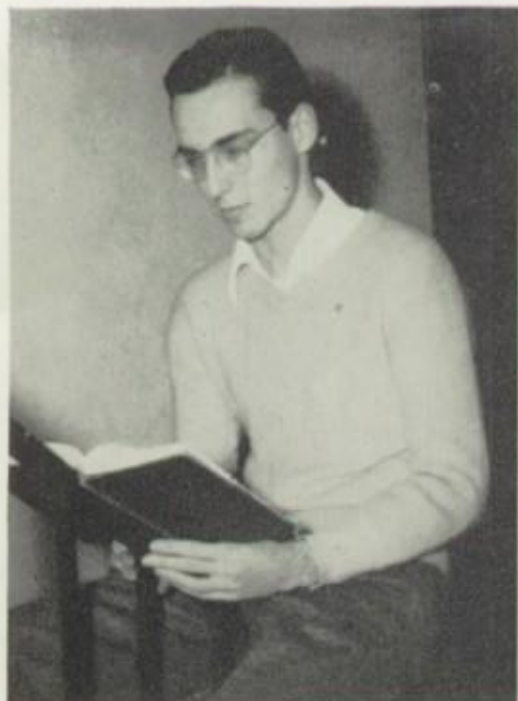

JAMES WILLIAM FORSEN

"Buddy" entered J. B. in the ninth grade. He has always managed, despite zeal for working on Dr. Rosskopf's math assignments, to be on hand for any mirthful occasion. Jim is an upstanding boy. (He up-stands 6' 2".) He has been a Soccer Letterman for the past three years. Jim is also a "Jazz-mad youth." Although not particularly thrifty, Jim limits himself to one haircut every three months. The teachers quail at the sound of Jim's fiendish laughter, and flee before "whatever it is" goes off.

RUTH NAOMI EDISON

Ruth is one of the privileged (?) few who pioneered the class of 1948 in kindergarten. In those thirteen years, she's been interested in many things. She is one of three to survive four years of French. But since Ruth's mind often transcended French, some times she nearly forgot to report to class. Ruthie's willingness to assume responsibilities (when she remembers them) won't be soon forgotten. Example: She has long been a prominent member of the Review. Usually, however, she is in the Library, absorbed in a good book. She is probably just soothing her nerves before the weekend.

"No bull."

"I got a letter."

JAMES

TENTH GRADE: "B" Football, "A" Soccer, "B" Track, Shop. ELEVENTH GRADE: "A" Football, "A" Soccer, "A" Track, Dramatics. TWELFTH GRADE: "A" Football, "A" Soccer, "A" Tennis, Rifle Club, Social Committee.

RUTH

TENTH GRADE: Review, Sculpture, Home Economics, "A" Hockey. ELEVENTH GRADE: Sculpture, Science Club, Dramatics. TWELFTH GRADE: Typing, Home Economics, Review, Dramatics.

FREDRIC S. FREUND

Fred's philosophy is so elastic that he can see just as much value in dramatics and science as he can see in athletics. Perhaps we should say that he believes in being an all 'round person. He is too—physically and mentally. He has a good sense of humor, and a good sense of defensive football. Another stalwart athlete says good-bye. We shall miss Fred; he has a good sense of balance especially when others are upset by trifles.

BARBARA JEANNETTE EDWARDS

A blue '39 Packard named "Bessie" struggles up the Burroughs driveway at eight-forty-eight. Barby is crouching over the wheel. Although the last one to arrive any where, Barbara (blonde, blue-eyed, and smiling). (Note: She has the smallest waist in existence) always manages to be first when it counts. Her years at Burroughs have been ones of breathless activity — she's star runner of the Track Team —and when out of breath she makes out Steering Committee reports and gives out knowing advice simultaneously.

FREDRIC

TENTH GRADE: Dramatics, "B" Football, "B" Soccer, "B" Track, Rifle Club. ELEVENTH GRADE: "B" Football, "B" Soccer, "B" Tennis, Science Club. TWELFTH GRADE: "A" Football, "A" Soccer, Science Club, Yearbook.

BARBARA

TENTH GRADE: Dramatics, Glee Club, Yearbook, "A" Riflery, "A" Hockey, "A" Track, Typing. ELEVENTH GRADE: Dramatics, Yearbook, "A" Hockey, "A" Soccer, "A" Track (Captain), Varsity Hockey. TWELFTH GRADE: Chairman of Steering Committee, Sports Editor of Yearbook, Home Economics, Dramatics, Review, "A" Hockey, Varsity Hockey.

"Phhtrrr!"

"Hey, people!"

LEONARD THOMPSON FURLOW, JR.

Len was about to join our class in the seventh grade, but the Navy called Dad to California, etc.; so Len didn't join us until the tenth grade. He was immediately dubbed "Fleetfoot" for his remarkable track abilities. In his senior year, it was changed to "Bananafoot" in accordance with his soccer skill. Also widely known are the blue slips that coast into Len's advisory from the industrial arts department. Len is one of the few Senior boys who can boast of TWO women pursuing him.

ANNETTE GARDNER

A Prince Gardner wallet plus a '46 Nash plus "Quiet Please" plus knitting equal Annette. But no mere mathematical equation can describe Annette, a gal of many facets. Chairman of the girls' advisory, she is the only one who can keep them quiet. Gardner is responsible for many of the class achievements—the Leap Year, the class party and the senior privileges. This is remarkable because Annie's attendance is the casual type. Her tardy excuses (always satisfactory) are unique.

LEONARD

TENTH GRADE: "B" Basketball, "A" Track. ELEVENTH GRADE: Vice-President of Class, Rifle Club, "B" Football, "B" Basketball, "A" Track. TWELFTH GRADE: Treasurer of Council, Science Club, "A" Football, "A" Soccer, "A" Track.

ANNETTE

TENTH GRADE: Dramatics, Riflery, Photography, "A" Hockey, "A" Basketball, "A" Volleyball, "A" Track, "A" Baseball, Varsity Hockey. ELEVENTH GRADE: Dramatics, "A" Hockey, "A" Basketball (Co-Captain), "A" Volleyball, "A" Track, "A" Baseball, Varsity Hockey, Athletic Medal. TWELFTH GRADE: Chairman of Senior Girls' Advisory, Chairman of Leap Year, Typing, Dramatics.

"Life is but one eternal triangle."

"The Gardner bus is late."

GEORGE ROGER GAY

George, one the many handsome boys in the class, and an extreme introvert, has contributed constantly to school activities. His twisted smile and even disposition have made him well-liked by everyone. His sense of humor and willingness to cooperate have made for him a place of outstanding importance on the Yearbook Staff. He has been an active sports enthusiast, especially in soccer. George never misses a party or dance, and for it to be a success he explodes water bombs and sings songs.

JOAN DORIS GIESSOW

The obvious suggestions which solve all difficulties (and which no one thought of before) usually come from Joanie. Thoughtful Joan is one of the practical few who keep the advisory functioning with efficiency. Her ways of wringing money out of the perpetually broke never fail. Joan is not only a conscientious student, but a good athlete and a standby on "A" teams. The founder of the "Can't Sing; So What?" quartet, she's contributed many a nervewracking note to every Senior song.

GEORGE

TENTH GRADE: Chairman of Foster Child Project, Riflery, Sculpture, Yearbook, Dramatics, "A" Hockey, "A" Baseball. ELEVENTH GRADE: Chairman of Prom Refreshments Committee, Chairman of Foster Child Project, Review, Typing, Sculpture, Greek, Dramatics, "A" Hockey, "A" Soccer, "A" Baseball, Varsity Hockey, Varsity Baseball. TWELFTH GRADE: Steering Committee, Chairman of Foster Child Project, Class Historian of Yearbook, Sculpture, Home Economics, Dramatics, "A" Hockey, Varsity Hockey.

"Where's the Mirror?"

"Where's your money?"

SAMUEL GRANT

"Sam," having become disgusted with females in his early years, dedicated his senior year to the subjugation of violators of the rules of student government at J. B. S. In his spare moments, Sam derived untold pleasure in making the boys from Country Day miserable, having decisively defeated these fore-mentioned individuals with the aid of his equally sturdy lieutenants on the football field for two consecutive years. Singing Sam led the Glee Club as effectively as he led the football and baseball teams.

JOANNE RUTH GRAVELY

Tiny, elfin-like, with a super figure, Joanne is ever in the midst of things. No group is complete without her wit; and, likewise, no quartet is complete without her high soprano voice attempting to sing tenor. She has a limitless source of energy, for aside from holding down high grades, being a star athlete, co-editor of the World, and class secretary, Jo manages to excel in modern dancing. How much can be so little will never cease to amaze her friends.

EDWARD BIRGE HAGER

For the past few autumns, the members of Ted's class have been surprised by his re-appearance at J. B. Ted devotes each summer and most of his spare time to fulfilling his uncontrollable desire to climb any accessible overhanging cliff. The higher, the more fun. Thus Ted keeps his life in constant danger. When not climbing mountains, Ted is a welcome addition to any group. He has received a measure of recognition from "Gilbert Chemistry". Also worthy of mention are the many bold excursions into the Ozarks, and his end-play on the "A" Football team.

JAYNE LOU HAMILTON

When Jayne joined the class in the ninth grade, she became known immediately as one of the most independent and sincere girls in Burroughs. Everyone also voted her beauty as outstanding. Jayne became an accepted actress last year when she was a wide-eyed Frances in "Spring Dance." Anytime a problem needed to be untangled, Jayne used a little of her natural psychology. Though her spare time is limited, her good grades show a stable effort. Jayne's beautiful eyes work wonders, but it's really her sweet, soft humor that makes her a favorite.

WILLIAM HENBY HEDLEY

"Billski," or "Hill-Bill," is one of the more intellectual of the Senior boys. He is the only student of our class who has achieved a straight "A" record. A third of the "Buddies" organization, Bill spends much of his time conveying his buddies to and from the better Saint Louis soda fountains. Billy loves the sports of soccer and football, and can be found engaged in said game in room 205 after lunch. He has been one of the finest players on the soccer and football teams for several years.

RUTH ESTHER HEINRICH

Ruth has been on Mr. Montgomery's roll for four of her six years of mathematics. We will never forget the day she taught one of his classes. Another admirer, Mr. Obourn, always surprises Ruth with hidden rocks. Aside from math. and science, she takes an active part in the Glee Club. Ruth's artistic talents were blooming and recognized 'way before she designed this year's Christmas tableau. Ruth is one of the friendliest girls of the Senior group and does anything she is requested to do in a cheerful and capable manner.

RICHARD GLENN JACKMAN

"Lucky Ritchy" entered the class in the ninth grade, but being a quiet individual, some of his outstanding talents went long undiscovered. He can lull his senior buddies to sleep by hypnotic concentration—this also works on animals of lower classification, so we are told. He is often seen trying to escape the pains of Phys. Ed., and has enjoyed an enviable degree of success in this matter. Ritchy has managed to get fine grades, even in "Monty's" senior mathematics class.

NANCY JOSEPHINE JACKES

She owns a giggle, a baby face, extra blonde hair, and shiny green eyes—and more best friends than anyone whom she advises and helps with her Irish sense of humor and long series of stories. She can reel off poems unlimited when in the mood, and as co-editor of the Review, put new life into that magazine. Besides being a whizz in hockey, she can ride a horse to perfection, and we've all often been out at the farm (where she keeps those thoroughbreds) on the famous uninvited parties.

FRANCIS HENRI JASPAR

Hal joined the class of 1948 in the eighth grade. Immediately he indicated his ability as a student and as a good "group man." His desire to improve the World caused him to join the staff, and, by plenty of hard work, became the editor in his senior year. Hal did a splendid job as manager of athletic teams and deserves the high position he has earned for himself. He is a good man to have around. He gets things done.

BARBARA ELIZABETH KERBY

Barb should write a book on philosophy. She has the most profound and thought-out thoughts of anyone. Barb never seems to have time enough to do all she wants. She does her homework so very conscientiously and is so vitally interested in music, the theatre, and the dance that one envies her comprehensiveness. Barb's versatility was proved when she played Helen, the fatal charmer in "The Trojan Women." Who would have suspected the air would crackle so!

BENJAMIN JOHNSON

Ben Johnson, called the "Mop" because of his tousled red thatch of thick unkempt hair, has a keen sense of humor and a remarkable ability to quote Shakespeare. The boy reads widely, but writes infrequently. Chemistry is his life and he plans to do something about it by majoring in the subject in college. Rusty has an infectious laugh and makes and keeps friends by his ever-ready willingness to join a group in fun and frolic.

ANN EVANS LARIMORE

The baby of the class has a great deal of ability. Her dramatic talent (?) was evident from the day she first swished in. She is also creative, being able to write an extensive theme or a catchy riddle. An unharmonious melody is distinctly Annie's. She deserves a medal though, for she works most hard to carry a tune. Larry-more is calm AND casual, even when the mailman delivers mail. She is said to be witty—a typical remark was (when THEY turned off the radiators during January at school), "Mah Southern blood is 'suffrin.'"

JOHN SHERIDAN LOY

Jerry is a man of fine and cultured tastes in entertainment. He is respected at John Burroughs as a distinguished connoisseur of the theatre (movie, of course). When one wishes to find "Skloy" on Saturday night (or any other night), he can be sure of discovering our friend mingling with the studious group at Clayton library. The better half of the "Jackman-Loy" faction will long be remembered for his earnest efforts to earn his place in the sun by drawing cartoons of all and sundry as a labor of love.

JANET LONG

Who's that scurrying down the hall with the beautiful sweater on? The girl with the cute smile and dancing eyes? Janet Long! "Doc" is always present wherever there are "doings"; yet she doesn't neglect any duties. The art room is perhaps her favorite spot, and we understand this after seeing examples of her work. Janet headed the Social Committee this year, and with her ideas and spirit, the parties were really thrown "the right way". A talented member of the Glee Club, she is one of Mr. Weinrech's favored. Janet is always ready for a good time, but if there is trouble brewing, she'll come to the rescue.

GEOFFREY CREIGHTON MacGLASHAN

"Cross that line!" was Geoff's favorite cry as he and "Bo", the other guard, stopped Codasco cold on the ten yard line. Jeff basked in the sunshine of the glances from feminine pulchritude as he made history in the gridiron. Being named on the all A. B. C. team may turn the heads of some young men, but the honor had no effect on Geoff. According to his own report, "Why that's nothing! I bought only 500 papers the day the news was printed; and the Pater bought one thousand."

MARY CURTIS McKINLEY

"Ah'm f'm Gogia an' proud of it!" A low voice proclaims that Sherman was a low down rascal and no gentleman. A sultry voice makes a unique suggestion or objection in advisory discussions. Mary is here, having to do with everything, helping, advising. She designed the Junior Prom of '47. She is Feature Editor for this Yearbook; and all this has been done between her journeys to church conferences all over the country. We are also happy to note that Mary's greatest ambition—to be an angel in the Christmas Pageant—came true this year.

"Misbehavin'!"

"Scandalous."

VAN DYNE McCUTCHEON

If, while wandering down the halls of sunny Burroughs you are accosted by a tall, friendly creature with a pointed head, don't be alarmed! It's just Van Dyne, an immigrant from Ferguson. He will probably be discussing the merits of Student Federalism or of lemonade. "Sharpie" has participated in many sports at J. B. He astounds all by his ability to cram good school work between his daily trips to Gaymeyer's. "Sharpie" is a welcome addition to any party, as his "crash" record indicates.

JOAN MEISEL

Joanie is a blonde. Joanie has a giggle. Although she seems a quiet person to those who don't know her well, we applaud her unique sense of humor. Crinkling cars is one of Joanie's pet specialties—the day she walked casually into her living room carrying a headlight was typical. Senior Math has been one (just one) of Joan's difficulties in school. Any Math student walking into the Senior girl's advisory knows Joanie's by-word, her frantic plea: "Somebody do my Math?"

"I've got a good point."

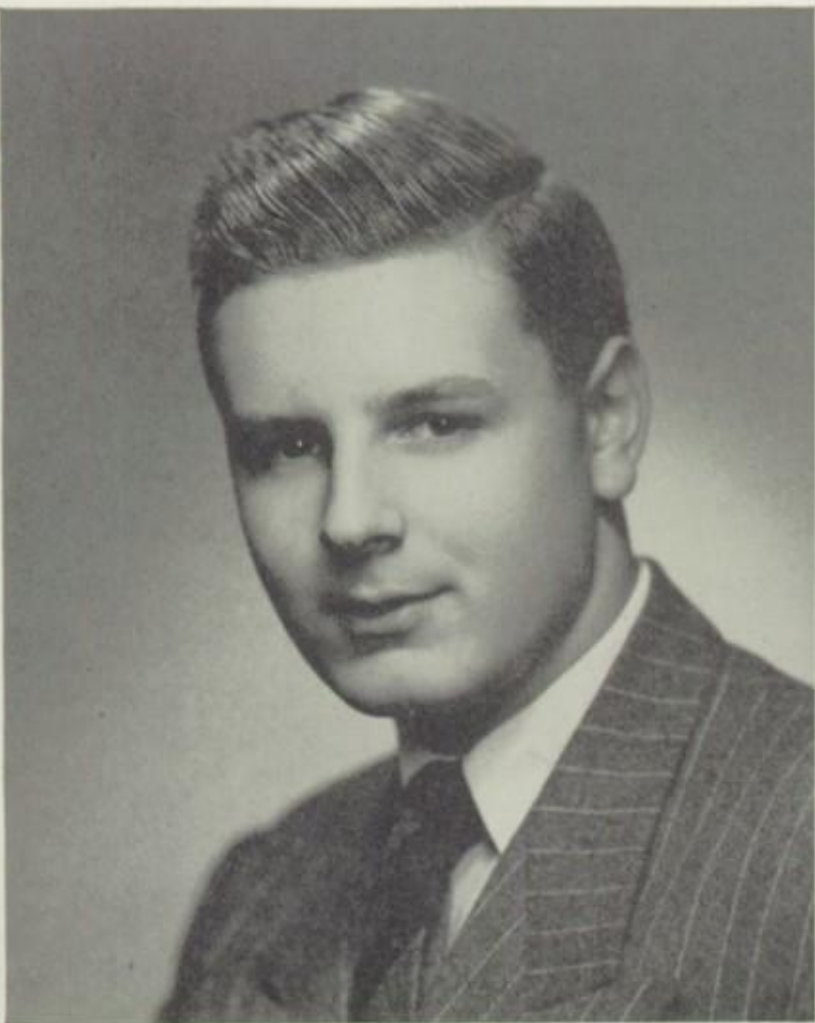

"I can't make up my mind."

JOHN RANDOLPH McNAUGHER

John McNaugher joined the twelfth grade and, by so doing, became one of the very few, in fact very, very, very few, ever to be admitted to the Senior class. That the administration made no mistake is indicated by John's ready ability to gain the love and respect of the Seniors, and by his own desire to do well academically and in activities. We take our hats off to John — he's a real John Burroughs man.

SARAH LEE METCALFE

The King asked the Queen, the Queen asked the Dairymaid, and the Dairymaid asked Sarah, who always knows about everything from Winnie-the-Pooh to the Supreme Court. Sarah has proved her capabilities in almost every field during her three years at Burroughs. She was an efficient Clerk of the Court, and an outstanding member of the dramatics department, as was proved in "The Trojan Women." And Sal is still alive after being chairman of our Prom! But surpassing these qualities is another one—Sarah is a mighty personable girl.

JOHN STRAUCH MEYER

Investigation of an explosion in the "Obe's" lab will reveal John Meyer escaping the blast . . . and the "Obe." Renowned for his "Pin-head Trips" which break in (down) his family's new cars, John has several times barely escaped with his life. His ability in Dr. Neville's English class is worthy of mention. John has harnessed his satirical wit to write and edit a great many of these Senior write-ups. Everyone will long remember John's grand parties and the deadly accuracy with which he can hurl an eraser.

JEAN EDNA MORRISON

Jean is one of many who entered our class in the ninth grade. She is quiet, calm, reserved, thoughtful of others, and always ready to help anyone in need. If ever anyone wants a ride — just as far as Clayton — ask Jean. Never mention Higher Mathematics to Jean, even if you did see her extra geometric contributions. Her soft voice and understanding, helpful disposition are envied even by the best of us. A truer friend can't be found.

THOMAS WOOD PARRY, JR.

Whenever you see a Ford convertible arriving at school about three minutes before Fred Freund, Ray Bolin, et. al., and parking safely behind a tree, you can be sure it's Tom. Tom's antics have put him in the esteem of the weaker as well as the stronger sex. Tom's "overdue" experiments have caused many an imaginary hair to fall from the "Obe's" head. Also to be remembered is his participation in the Parry-Caseltan-Corneli faction which seemed ever to be concocting great plans.

MARJORIE JEANNE MUELLER

Just lift up the blonde bangs of one of the class—that's Marge behind them. There you will also find an pert nose and, (her pride and joy), a trembling chin. When "How simply devine" is heard above all other voices, Margie and her gift of gab are present, and everyone else is in "stitches." Margie not only has personality, but has energy enough to participate in many activities. Sewing, scene design, and shop work are among her accomplishments—not to mention raiding the icebox.

LELAND JAMES SCHOEN

Leland (Round the World) Schoen is the only seaman our class can boast. Last September, when school opened, Leland was not present. His whereabouts were a matter of conjecture. There were rumors that he was in Europe, Africa, Asia or perhaps Antarctica. Finally Gov. received a battered letter postmarked Penang, which was Leland's location at the time. Fortunately for the "A" football team, the voyager returned early in October. Leland is planning on Harvard hair-cuts for four years.

JULIA LENOIR PRICE

"I'm in the strangest mood" can be followed only by the appearance of Jude. Find a deep discussion (about anything—"men" or Mexico) and Judy is there dropping subtle sarcasms like bombs. Despite the many men on her mind, Price manages such achievements as Secretary of Council and excellent grades. A member of the "inner Chorus" Judy's harmony is daring. Judy is certainly a leader (except in dancing where she follows extremely well).

HORACE WENDELL SCOTT

When Horace Scott came to Burroughs in February of 1945, he created a certain amount of wonderment because he wore a tie to school for almost a week after his first appearance. "Hilltopper" (a boy who likes to talk), however, was soon persuaded to stop wearing a tie. Horace is fond of classical music. We also discovered that Horace had a flair for writing. He was elected News Editor of the World in his junior year, and Co-Editor in his Senior year.

BETTY LOU RINGO

The clashes between Betty Lou and history have been many and frequent. (Maybe she resented being called "Letty Rou Bingo"?) Lou is to be admired, for she has taken Spanish and French at one and the same time! C'est verdad! Although she avoids gym (and consequently colds) as much as possible, Betty haunts the Art Department, her special favorite. And to this day, we all wonder how she keeps her "Powers" figure with the fabulous food she eats at home.

LEO STIFEL SHANLEY

Leo is best known at J. B. for his excellent play on the football field. He earned a letter while on the "C" team, one while playing for the "B" team, and two while playing on the "A" team. Anyone who has played football with Leo will attest to the fact that he is an exceptional player, and a great inspiration to the other players on the team. Aside from athletics, Leo has consistently maintained a good scholastic average, and a disposition that is friendly and cooperative.

VIOLETTE SUZANNE SIMON

In spite of "Simone's" fragile, fluttery ways, she is an efficient, capable Editor-in-Chief of this Yearbook. Her charm would soothe a savage beast; indeed, it has often soothed a savage "Doc." Versatile Vi'let runs errands, encourages raving editors, collects advertising and generally advises and helps the harried Yearbook staff. How Vi manages to do all this and write those important letters too, is a minor miracle. But throughout all turmoil and trouble, she remains her calm, sweet, soothing self.

ROBERT STROUD

Bob is one of the most versatile and popular boys in the class. He has won two "A" football letters, and has been a mainstay of the "A" soccer team for several years. He served as a justice on the student court during his senior year. Bob has managed to excel in his academic work with apparent ease; although a now famous sneeze in the physics lab caused resounding reverberations. Bob will also be remembered for his "Brrr, it's cold out here."

JOAN PENFIELD WEIR

First, a flash; then, a smile—and underneath that luscious smile is Joanny. We envy not only Joanny's grin, but her blonde wavy hair (without the use of bottle or bobbypins!) Our rural daughter (she lives west of Lindburgh) is indispensable—she guarantees a laugh for any corny joke. In tenth grade she took "shop"; in eleventh, she acted (in "Spring Dance"); in twelfth, she studied—but only in a gay, easy manner.

member the broken window, the fuse box, the frantic scramble for books on our arrival in Clayton?). During the midst of snow and ice we had a Treasure Hunt (or should we say a snow ball fight!). When we realized the importance of the Christmas Pageant, we were envious of Jean Baker and Ted Hager, who were in the Tableau, and even of the book-boys and girls, Bob Stroud, Bob Coburn, Carol Draughon, Ann Ward and Christy Pratt. After the Christmas Pageant, we turned to more serious matters—adoption of the new Constitution. Callie Costen was appointed to represent us on the Council (as she did for the next five years, and became President of the Council in her Senior Year). The end of seventh grade was coming nearer; so with the election of Sam Grant (later to become Chief Justice of the Court) as President, Jim Caselton as Vice President, Callie as Secretary-Treasurer, we entered the eighth grade.

We were glad to see so many new additions to our class—Ann Larimore, Betty Lou Ringo, Marjorie Mueller, Hal Jaspar, Carol Deakin, Gertrude McGinnis, Alan Siegerist (who left our class for college at the end of our Junior year), Geoff MacGlashan and George Gay. Miss Marianne Moore and Mr. Gaylord Montgomery tried to teach us to act like ladies and gentlemen—everywhere—which included not throwing clay in the sculpture room—(have we grown up yet?—Ask Johnnie). At the start of school a wonderful Treasure Hunt was given, followed closely by a roller skating party at the Lorelei. We were also happy to find our class represented in the tableau by Alan Siegerist and Joan Giessow. During the rest of the year we saved our energy to participate on the "A", "B", and "C" teams the following year. We were sorry to see Anne Davis, Marilyn Howard, Ann Ward, and Gertrude McGinnis leave at the end of the year.

ROBERT PHILLIP STUPP

Bob spends most of his time in the shop, and is planning to be a civil engineer. He is also noted for his "Stupp Special" back. It always seems to fall out of place during Physical Education, but never seems to bother him at any other time. Although most of Bob's time is taken up by his "serious" studying, in his spare time he poses for "Man of Distinction" ads. Among the many nicknames Bob has acquired, the most characteristic is "General."

Entering the ninth grade with a great feeling of superiority (we were the oldest in the Junior School!!) some of the boys were carrying combs, and the girls were wearing lipstick. We immediately elected George Gay, President; Geoff MacGlashan, Vice President; and Joanne Gravely, Secretary-Treasurer. So many new faces were in our midst. Warren Bruce (he surprised us one day when he arrived at school on time—reason? His watch was fast), Jim Yocum, Mary Tyler, Richard Jackman, Joan Miesel, Joan Weir, Tim Corneli, Ray Bolin, Nancy Jackes, Barbara Edwards, Mary McKinley, Emerson Dresser, Jim Forsen, Jean Morrison, Bob Arnstein, Judy Price and Jayne Hamilton. The girls learned they can't eat their cake and have "it" too, while the boys discovered "Mary I." Miss Alice Beaman and Coach Lyle Bennett, our advisers, thought that our class party ought to be more sophisticated; so we set to work on a Halloween dance complete with pumpkins, fortune tellers, and hay stacks (is that where you got your asthma, Annette?) Later in the year we had a movie for our class party. The boys were excelling in sports; Ray was on the "A" baseball team, and the "A" soccer team (he is now a Soccer 4 letter man); some were on "B" football.

All good things must come to an end; so we said "au revoir" (some of us were talking, not speaking, French) or "vale" (which was drilled into us by Mr. Baker) to Jim Yocum, Lal Burridge, Henry Weisert, Jack Meyer, Nancy Niedringhaus, Barbara McAfee, Carol Gamble, Pat Sylvester, and Frances Davis (who was to return and visit us often), and welcomed Dick Merkle, Tom Parry, Janet Long, Bill Hedley, Van Dyne McCutcheon, Barbara Kerbey, and Sarah Metcalfe. Miss Marion Young and Mr. Martin L. Parry helped us adjust ourselves to the Senior School. We elected John Meyer, President of the class; Tim Corneli, Vice-President; and Joanne Gravely, Secretary. Our acting ability appeared this year with the production of two plays—"Five For Bad Luck", and "Her Fatal Beauty." We were very busy with examinations, and we little realized that Horace Scott and Leonard Furlow had entered our class, but they soon showed us their ability in the athletic and scholastic field. It was during this year that we discovered the wonderful facilities of the Jackes farm; so that was the spot for our class party! During this year many of the girls were on Varsity Teams, and the boys were on the "A" and "B" squads. Before entering the 11th grade we elected Sarah Metcalfe as President, Leonard Furlow as Vice-President and Judy Price as Secretary-Treasurer. It is regrettable that Christy Pratt, Barbara Bassett, Becky Mastin, Mary Tyler, Tom Perkins and Dick Merkle left us.

Entering the 11th grade, we discovered that Martha Cayce had joined our class. With twelve girls in Chemistry, "the Obe" was quite surprised, and amazed at some of the things we did (now why should he have been when we put the thermometer in upside down, or when we let the ammonia gas escape?). Ruth Edison and Fred Freund were the envy of the class with their cars, even though they did have some trouble. As we sang going into the Christmas Pageant, we noticed that Bill Hedley was missing. Our suspicions were confirmed when we saw him as one of the wise men in the tableau. Since we had disposed of the matter of class rings early in the year, we turned all our thoughts to the Prom. Mary McKinley's design was chosen—white arches and white balustrades, with roses and ivy (the girls could make roses in their sleep after doing 3,000 of them) all around and stars glittering. The moon coming out of the cloud was very effective. It seemed as if we'd never get finished, but thanks to the hard work of Miss Dorothy Gilbert and Mr. Ellsworth Obourn and all the Juniors, it was finished by five o'clock that night, just as our advisers said it would be. That night we danced and admired all of our hard work. The Costen's open house finished off the best Prom that has ever been given. Now we are looking forward to the Prom to be given for us.

Soon we will be graduating, and members of our class will be all over the United States. We may be "forgotten like the rest" but we shall never forget the wonderful years at Burroughs. We only hope that we have given the school half as much as we have received.

Twelfth Grade

The proud Seniors began their final year in John Burroughs School determined to create such an impression that following classes would bow in never-ending adoration to the memory of the class of 1948. That their determination resulted in action is seen by scanning the record: Senior boys were towers of strength in making our "A" team football record three in a row over Country Day School; Senior girls gave the best Leap Year Dance of all time: Senior boys and girls earned Senior Privileges at an early date, and, through their exercise of these privileges, made them certain for the coming senior class. The Seniors look back upon their years in J. B. S. with fond memories, and thank the faculty and students for all they have done to contribute to senior welfare and happiness.

Absent: Terry.

Eleventh Grade

The Junior class has been outstanding in all phases of school life. The class has been well represented in Student Government, having members on both the Court and Council. It has a great deal of dramatic ability and has shown a sincere interest in all the school publications, the Glee Club and the art departments. Excelling in all sports, many athletic Junior boys and girls, made places on all the Varsity teams. Their outstanding Junior Prom was exceptionally well produced, as a result of the fine spirit of cooperation and enthusiasm evidenced by all members of the class. After such a successful Junior year, the eleventh grade is eagerly looking forward to next year when they plan to equal the high standards of former Senior classes. Although they bid a fond farewell to the Seniors, they secretly feel that they'll fill the gap quite well, thank you.

Class officers: Louis Petring, secretary-treasurer; Jerry Gibbins, president; Clifford Schmid, vice-president.

THIRD ROW: Pfeifler, Gottlieb, J. Larkin, Oliver, T. Brown, S. Pruett, Krause, Pollnow, G. Meyer, Cramer, Rosenfeld, Burke, Werner, R. Rowland, R. Wagner, Vance, W. Stroud, N. Maune, Woods. Tenth Grade

The Sophomores came in contact with many new and different customs when they took over the Senior School in September. They experienced unsupervised study hall, and showed themselves well adapted to self-government. They found that their athletic program was wider in scope and more active, with both boys and girls competing for places on J. B. S. Varsity teams. The Sophomores found time to participate in all activities, and incidentally, to do outstanding work. They also showed great political ability and staunchly supported Court and Council on which they have excellent representation.

The Sophomore Dramatics organization staged several plays throughout the year. Everyone agreed that "Girls Must Talk" was the most successful and well produced.

Now that the Sophomores are almost Juniors, J. B. S. can look forward with great hope to ever increasing effectiveness in classroom and activities. The greatest of all classes is on its way.

Class officers: William Stroud, president; Sally Boyd, vice-president; Wally Dean, secretary.

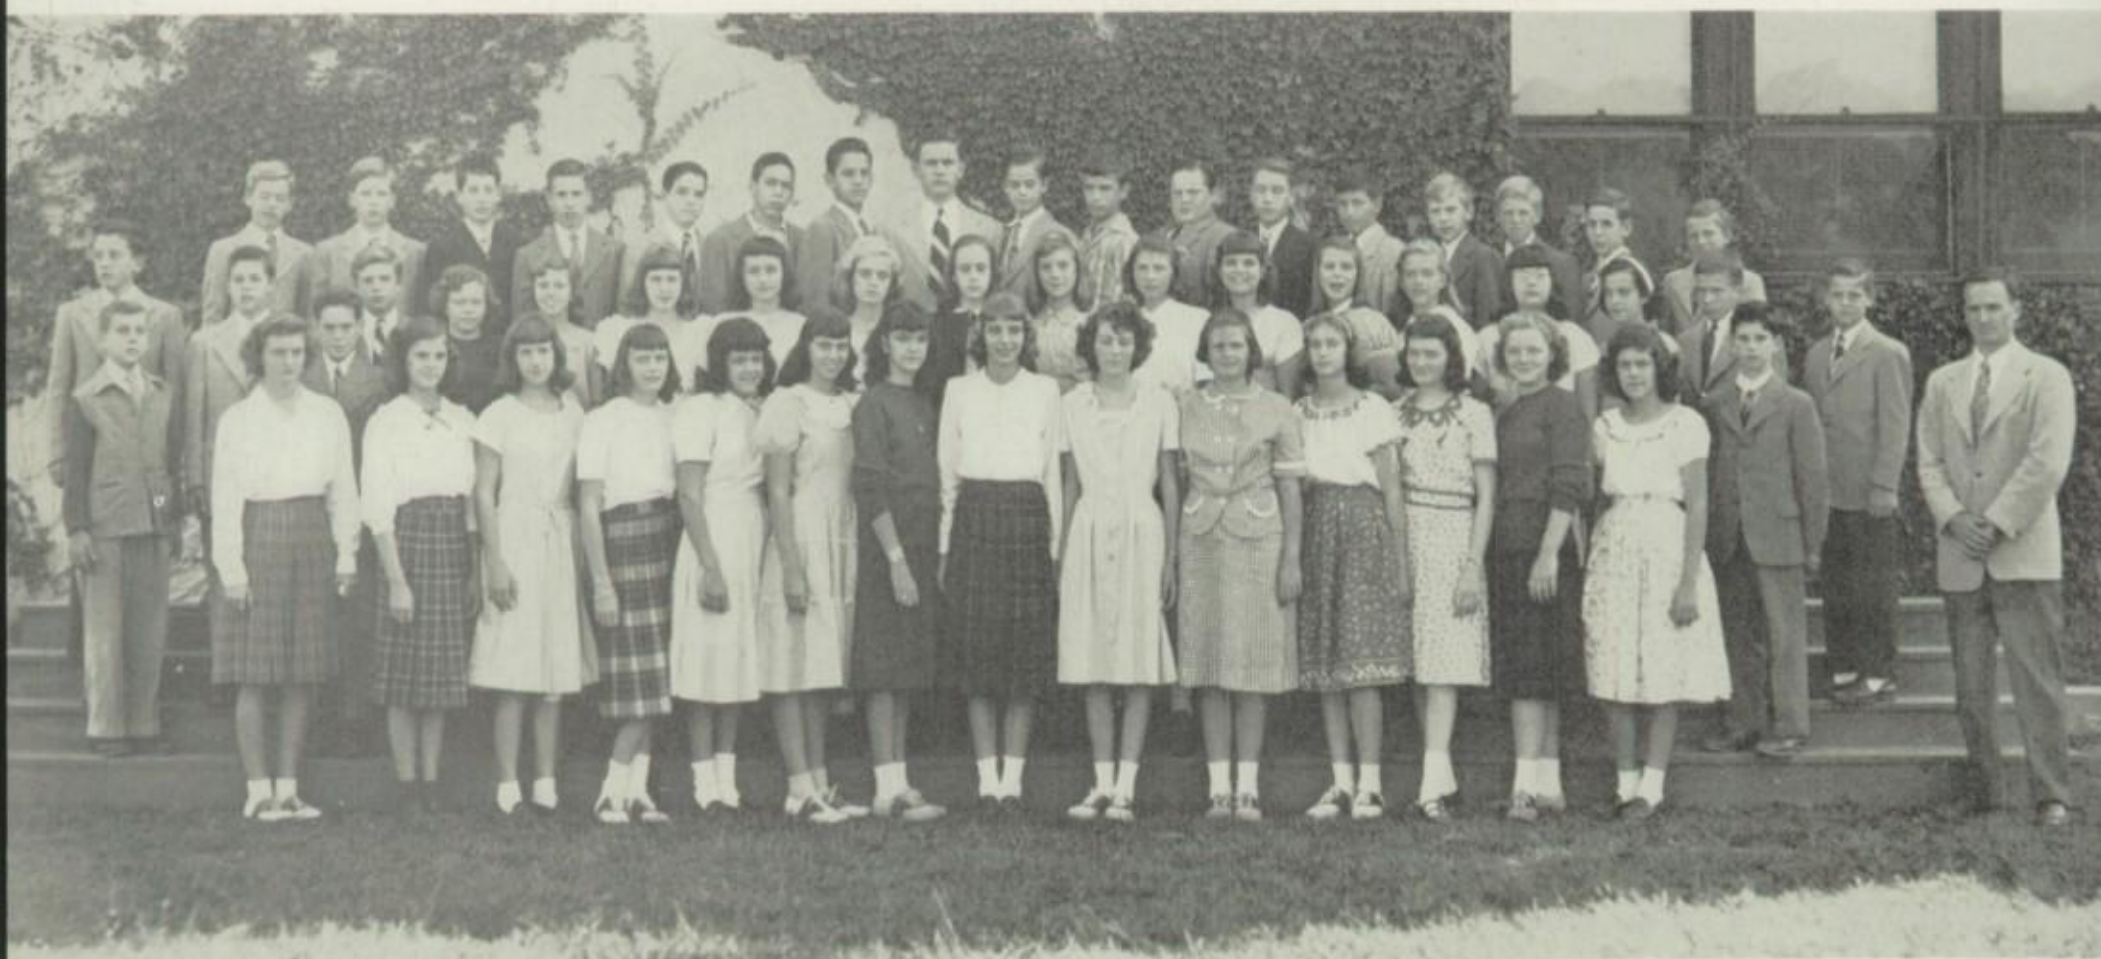

THIRD ROW: Kamp, A. Meyer, D. Rendlemen, J. Streett, Lohrer, Day, Rasmussen, Glass, Mesker, H. Reiner, Hampton, von Gontard, Flint, Gerlach, Esserman, F. Sibley, Matthews, D. Read, R. Ninth Grade

One is always sure to know when the Freshman class is around because of the general confusion and clamor. The students enter enthusiastically into all of the functions of school life. Other spectators will always see a large and noisy representation of them at every football game, basketball game, and baseball game. The boys have given valuable support to the A, B and C teams, and the girls show promising possibilities in hockey. The ninth graders are famous for their sense of humor and their excitement over any little thing. They are well represented in junior chorus, orchestra, sculpturing, and painting. In short, these students have shown themselves to be good sports, good athletes, and cooperative workers. With such a good start in grade nine, is it any wonder that the school is looking forward eagerly to next year's sophomore class for guidance?

Class officers: Andrew Meyer, president; Carol Metcalfe, secretary; Richard Mesker, vice-president.

THIRD ROW: Long, Potter, Rodgers, Birge, Minton, Studt, Goldstein, Harris, Balliet, Burget, Teasdale, Ludington, Arzt, Rand, Dyer, Brown, Goldman, G. Gardner. SECOND ROW: G. Krause, D. McCaughan, Gamble, Richter, Johnson, Thym, Kipp, Hampton, Magee, Sullivan, Ledbetter, S. Jackes, Mr. Wolfe. Absent: Hein.

Eighth Grade

The eighth grade has shown itself to be adept in numerous student activities. The class has participated eagerly in many phases of physical education, with the boys and girls making many valuable contributions on the Army or Navy teams, and the Blue or Gold teams. In December the eighth grade social studies class gave an assembly based on the Freedom Train; the assembly was considered a great success. Music, sculpture, painting, and industrial arts have been among the many interests and activities of the eighth graders. Several members of the class have been in the Junior Chorus, and some other members have joined the orchestra. The group has also made valuable contributions to the improvement of student government.

The eighth grade is proud of the eighth grade's accomplishments, and looks forward with much enthusiasm to being in charge of the Junior School next year.

Class officers: John Studt, president; Don Pruett, vice-president; Virginia Thym, secretary; Nancy Fordyce, treasurer.

THIRD ROW: Miss Damon, Levis, W. Bitting, Walsh, R. Weinrich, Weissenborn, Harrison, Thym, Hobson, Fischer, Perkins, McDonald, Rodes, Hickenlooper, Dubinsky, Philpott, G. Bitting, D. Seventh Grade

We, the pupils of the seventh grade, in order to form a more perfect school by "Building a Better Burroughs", have contributed and participated to the best of our abilities in good things, bad things, and otherwise things during the '47 and '48 season. We owe considerable thanks to our teachers who gave us such fine starts in J. B. S. and to the Senior Big-Brothers and Big-Sisters who have given us abundant moral support. There is one question, however, that we have been unable to answer: What is a "wimp-wump"? Our favorite pastimes are Home Economics, Mechanical Drawing, and Watching C. D. S. take its annual beatings from Burroughs teams. Among other things, we are very proud of the war orphan we support.

BOOK TWO

Athletics

Athletics in John Burroughs School develop healthy bodies and inculcate attitudes that make for clean spirited play. Girls and boys are encouraged to participate in seasonal sports, and to follow with enthusiasm the inter-school games. Class-mates and team-mates co-operate to Build a Better Burroughs.

"A" Baseball--1947

The 1947 Burroughs "A" Baseball team, coached by Mr. Ray Wolfe, played hard and aggressive ball to place second in the league standings.

After turning Chaminade back by the score of 6—4, Burroughs lost its first game to Country Day in seven years, 11—0. After tying Clayton, 4—4 the Bombers went on to whip Western as Sisler struck out seventeen men and Burroughs hit hard behind him. The lack of experience proved to be the margin of defeat in the next game as Principia cut a last inning Burroughs rally short to win 6—5.

A close game was then lost to Chaminade, 4—3, but the Bombers came right back to slug past Principia and Codasco 5—1 and 7—4, respectively. With a chance to win the ABC championship, Burroughs lost to Western 3—2 to end the season.

1947--"B" Baseball

The John Burroughs "B" Baseball team played six games and easily won all of them. Coached by Dr. Ted Thelander, Burroughs had a hard hitting squad which averaged better than eleven runs per game while usually holding their rivals to comparatively low scores.

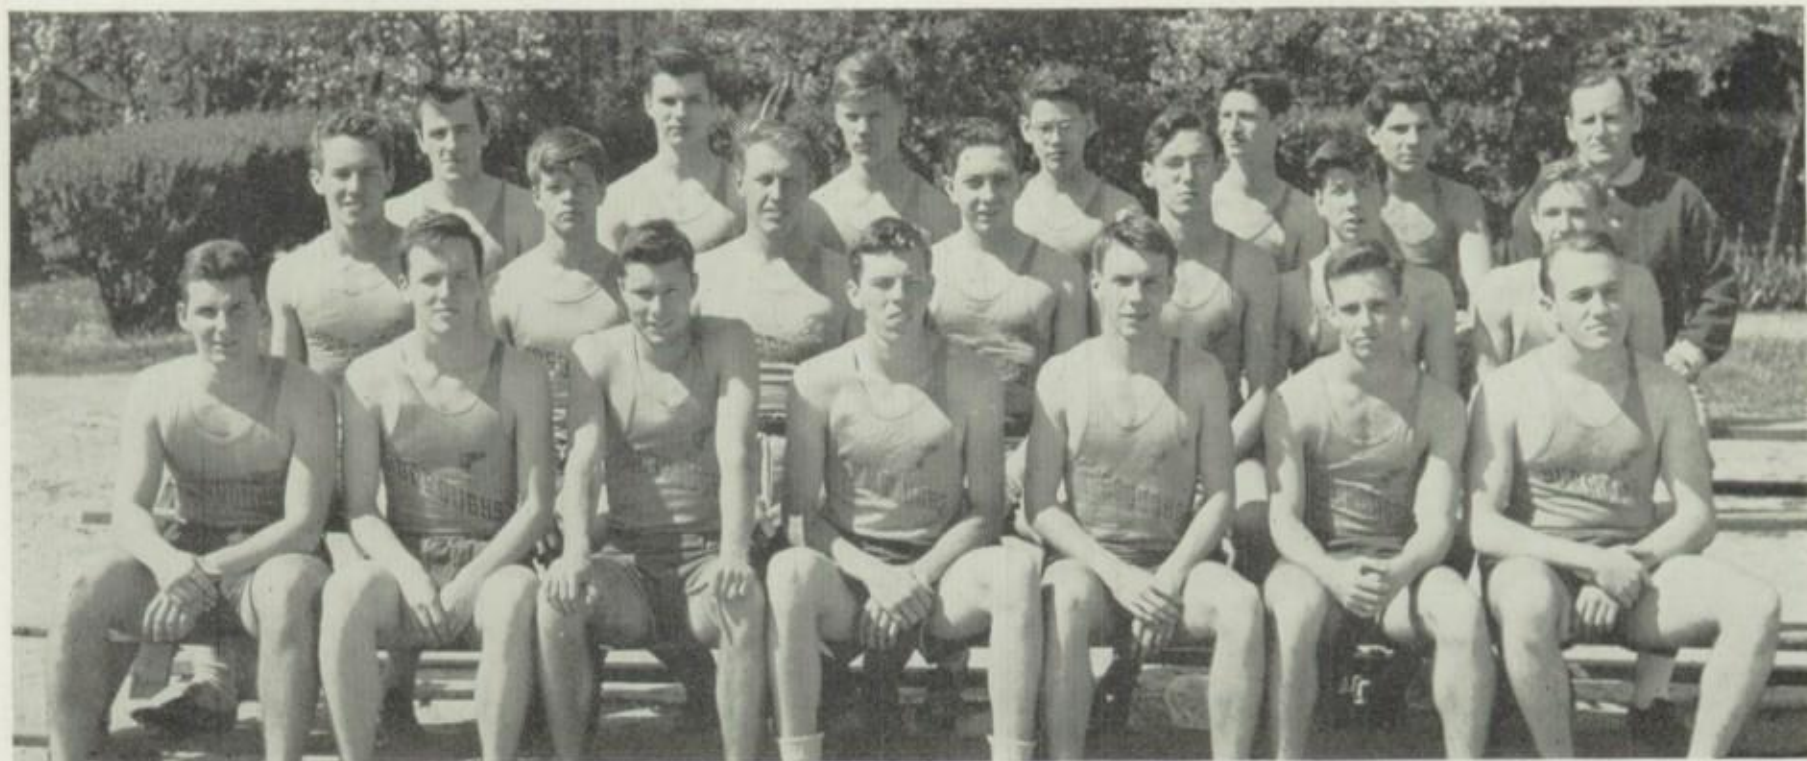

A 19 to 5 victory over Country Day started the season off right. The Codasco pitchers issued frequent walks to the Burroughs team and made the victory an easy one. Victories over Webster twice, 7 to 4 and 5 to 2, and Western, 14 to 0, followed the Country Day game, as Burroughs continued on its winning ways.

Burroughs then hit its stride against Western and battered the ball all over the field to win 15 to 5. For the final and most exciting victory of the season, Burroughs took a close game from Country Day, 5 to 4, to complete their very successful season.

Burke bats for "B"; Grant of "A" fields the ball.

Track--1947

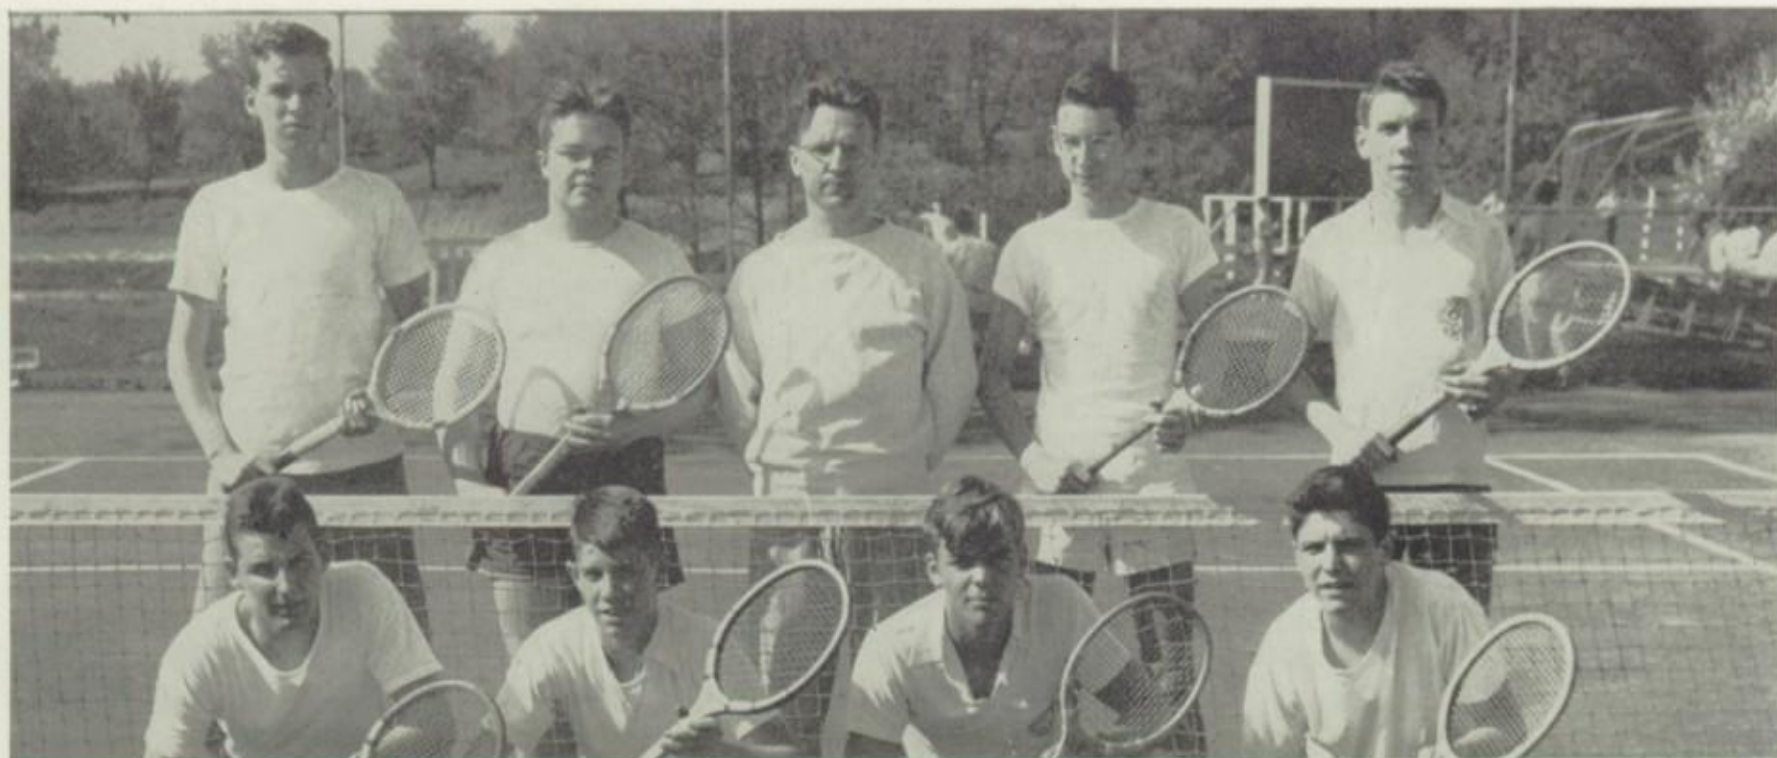

The 1947 track team had a fair season, losing track meets to strong Western and Principia teams while beating the Country Day team. In the meet with Codasco, Burroughs took first place in every event and easily won. Burroughs placed second in the A B C meet and third in the district meet. The team produced several stars, but was handicapped by a small squad; Burroughs was able to win a number of first places in every meet, but the team had difficulty in following through with the second and third place points.

Under the guidance of Coach George Staten, the team finished third in A B C League competition.

1947--Tennis

The "A" Tennis team, coached by Mr. Elmer Hearth, had a successful season, winning three matches, losing the same number, and tying one with University City. The team consisted of John Martin and Ben Bishop who played first and second singles respectively, and Julian Edison and Rick Luyties who divided the number three spot. Tom Day and Jim Schiele participated considerably in the doubles.

Winning two of their first three matches, Burroughs beat Western and Prin easily, but were defeated by Codasco. Principia and Country Day both won from Burroughs in the second round of play, while Burroughs was only able to take Western, thus capturing second place in league play.

“A” Football

The John Burroughs football team of 1947 finished second in A B C League competition, losing only to a strong Western eleven in league play. The upset of Principia by 22 points and of Country Day by 6 points were the highlights of the season, as the Bombers were unable to win any of their four non-league games.

Coached by Mr. Ray Wolfe and Dr. Mark Neville, the Bombers prospects looked only fair at the start of the year, and a season of some excellent and some spotty football followed. A large squad of 34 turned out for practice at the opening of the season, and the team profited much from a strong spirit. There was keen competition for all positions. The starting line-up in the majority of the games, however, found Bill Hedley, Bob Stroud, Geoff MacGlashan, Doug Montgomery, Leo Shanley, Tom Perkins, and Dave Sisler playing from left end to right, respectively. Chuck Thies played fullback; Sam Grant, Quarterback; and Ray Bolin and Jim Burst, right and left halfback.

BURROUGHS 28 PRINCIPIA 6

In the first league tilt of the season, the Bombers showed the full strength of their offensive power, and crushed a confident Prin team, 28 to 6. Making their own breaks, Burroughs scored once in each period in piling up their highest score of the season.

Coaches: Mr. John Martin, Mr. Donald Easum, Mr. George Staten, Mr. Ray Wolfe, Dr. Mark Neville.

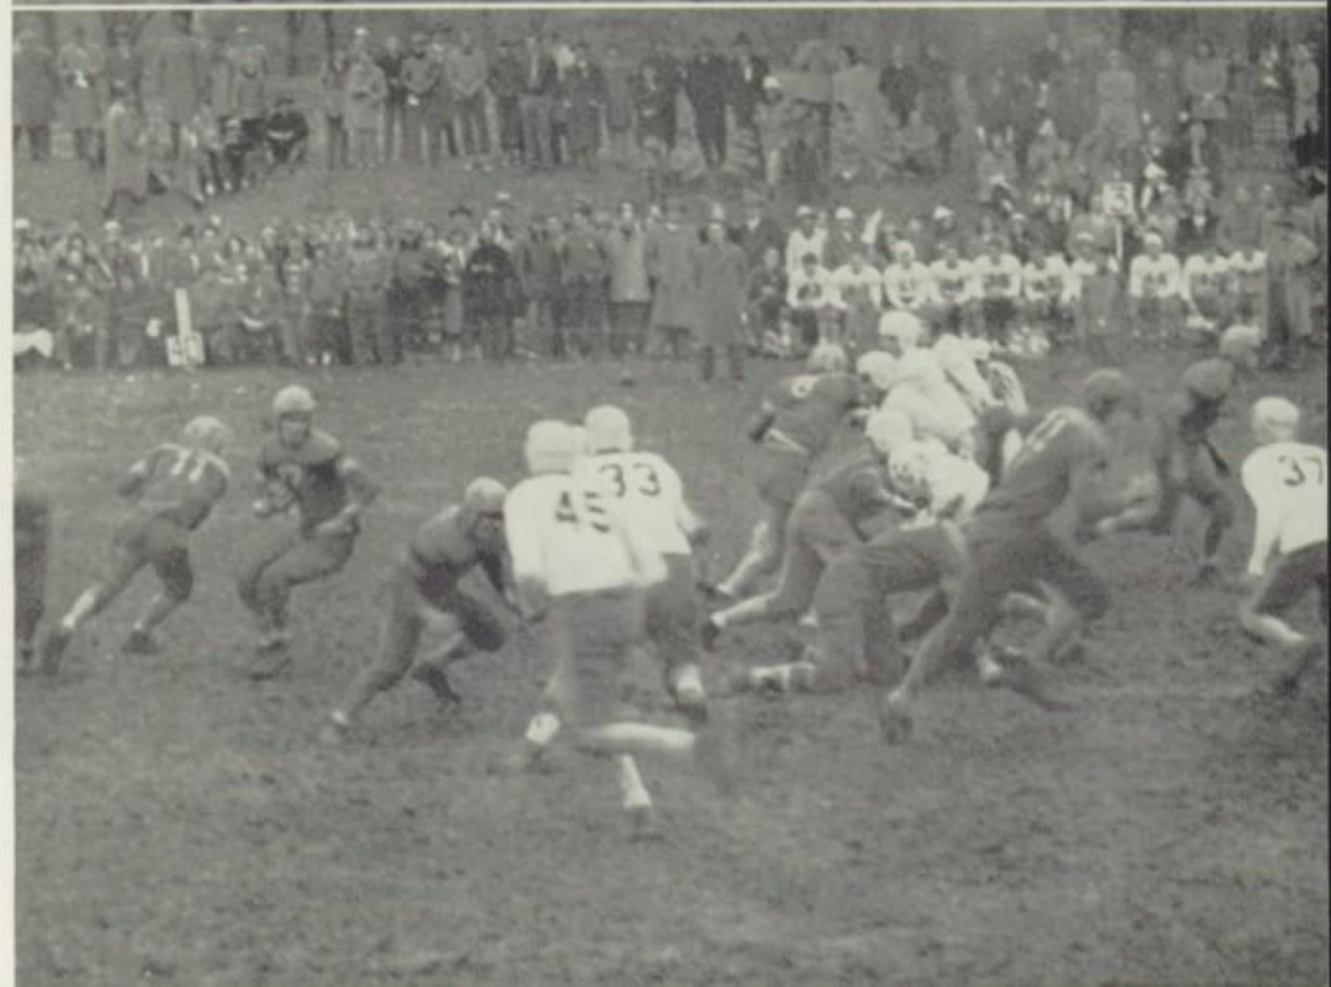

Early in the first quarter, Jim Burst bucked eleven yards off tackle for the first Burroughs touchdown. Dave Sisler, who successfully converted the four extra points to add to his two touchdowns, made the point after-touchdown. In the second quarter, Sisler caught a running pass from halfback Burst to make the score 14-0. In the second half, a spirited Burroughs eleven made it 21-0 on another long pass to Sisler in the end zone. Ray Bolin then added the fourth and final touchdown on a line buck early in the last quarter.

A strong Burroughs line was given much of the credit in this victory, for the boys played excellent offensive and defensive ball, blocking well to make all four touchdowns possible, while holding Prin to only six points which came late in the final stanza when Burroughs was substituting frequently.

BURROUGHS 9 WESTERN 45

In the second league contest, Burroughs bowed humbly under a bruising Western attack, 45 to 9. Western, one of the best teams in the district, held only a slight lead over the Bombers in the first half, but Burroughs folded up in the second half, because Western's strength in weight and reserves proved to be too much for a lighter Burroughs eleven.

After two quick Western touchdowns, Burroughs retaliated temporarily when Bob Stroud spilled a Cadet halfback behind his own goal line, and gained two points. Burroughs tallied again as Chuck Theis plunged over from the two yard line after a sixty yard Burroughs drive which made the score 12 to 9. The hopes of upsetting Western were quickly drowned in the second half, however as Western hit its stride and scored four touchdowns while holding Burroughs to none to win the game easily.

BURROUGHS 6 COUNTRY DAY 0

The annual Burroughs - Country Day game was, as it always is, the most exciting game of the year, played in traditional Burroughs - Codasco fashion. Keyed up for the final game in a hard week's practice, the Bombers entered the contest with a determination to win and to take second place in the League.

A hard rain the night before had left the field in a pool of mud and confined both teams to straight line plays. For the first three quarters neither team made any headway on the muddy field as both teams became surprisingly stubborn defensively. The ball changed hands many times while the excellent punting of Dave Sisler of Burroughs and Bud Drennon of Codasco kept both teams out of danger.

At the start of the second half, Burroughs took over the ball and ran up three successive first downs to advance the ball to the CDS 20 yard line, but there the Bombers lost the ball on downs. Again, in the fourth quarter, Burroughs threatened when they reached the 23 yard line, but were again stopped. With only three minutes to play in the game, Burroughs took advantage of a short Codasco punt, and in two plays, Chuck Thies crossed the goal line for the winning six points. The extra point was missed, but Burroughs had already won the third straight game from Codasco in three years.

NON-LEAGUE GAMES

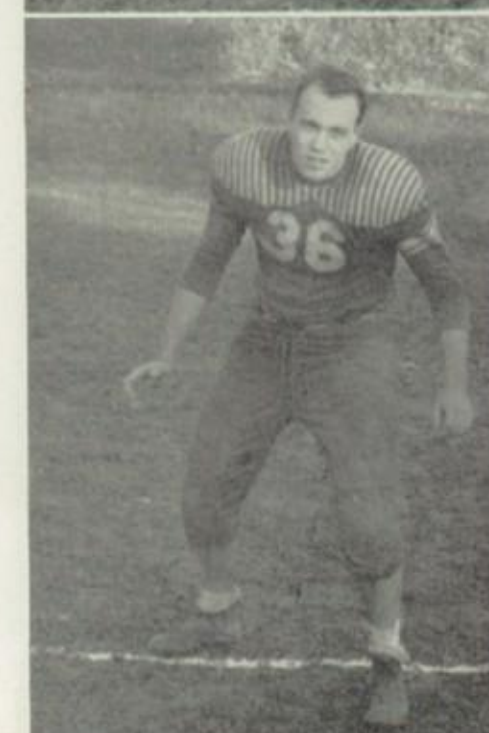

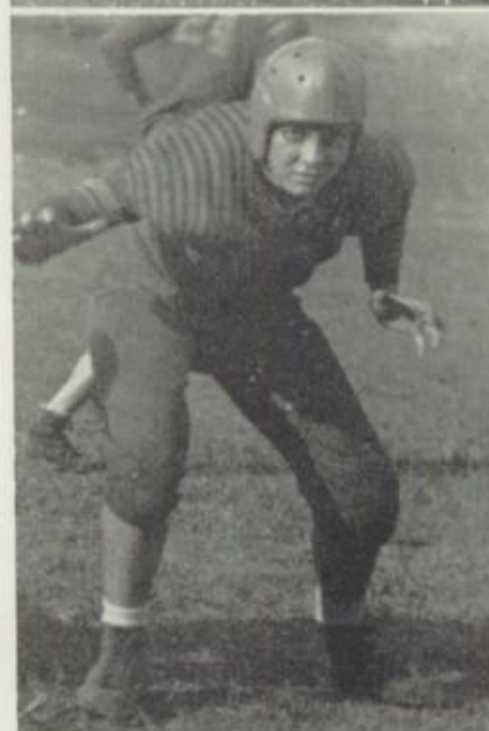

Chaminade furnished the first opposition for the Bombers. Burroughs, failing to take advantage of several scoring opportunities, lost 7 to 0. Burroughs had outrushed Chaminade, but a long pass and a line buck gave Chaminade the winning touchdown in the last two minutes of play.

In a game with Pembroke Country Day School in Kansas City, Burroughs lost again by one touchdown, 13 to 7. Burroughs started the scoring when Tom Perkins charged through the Pembroke line to intercept a lateral pass and run 70 yards for a touchdown. However, Pembroke came back in the second quarter and again in the fourth with a touchdown to win 13 to 7.

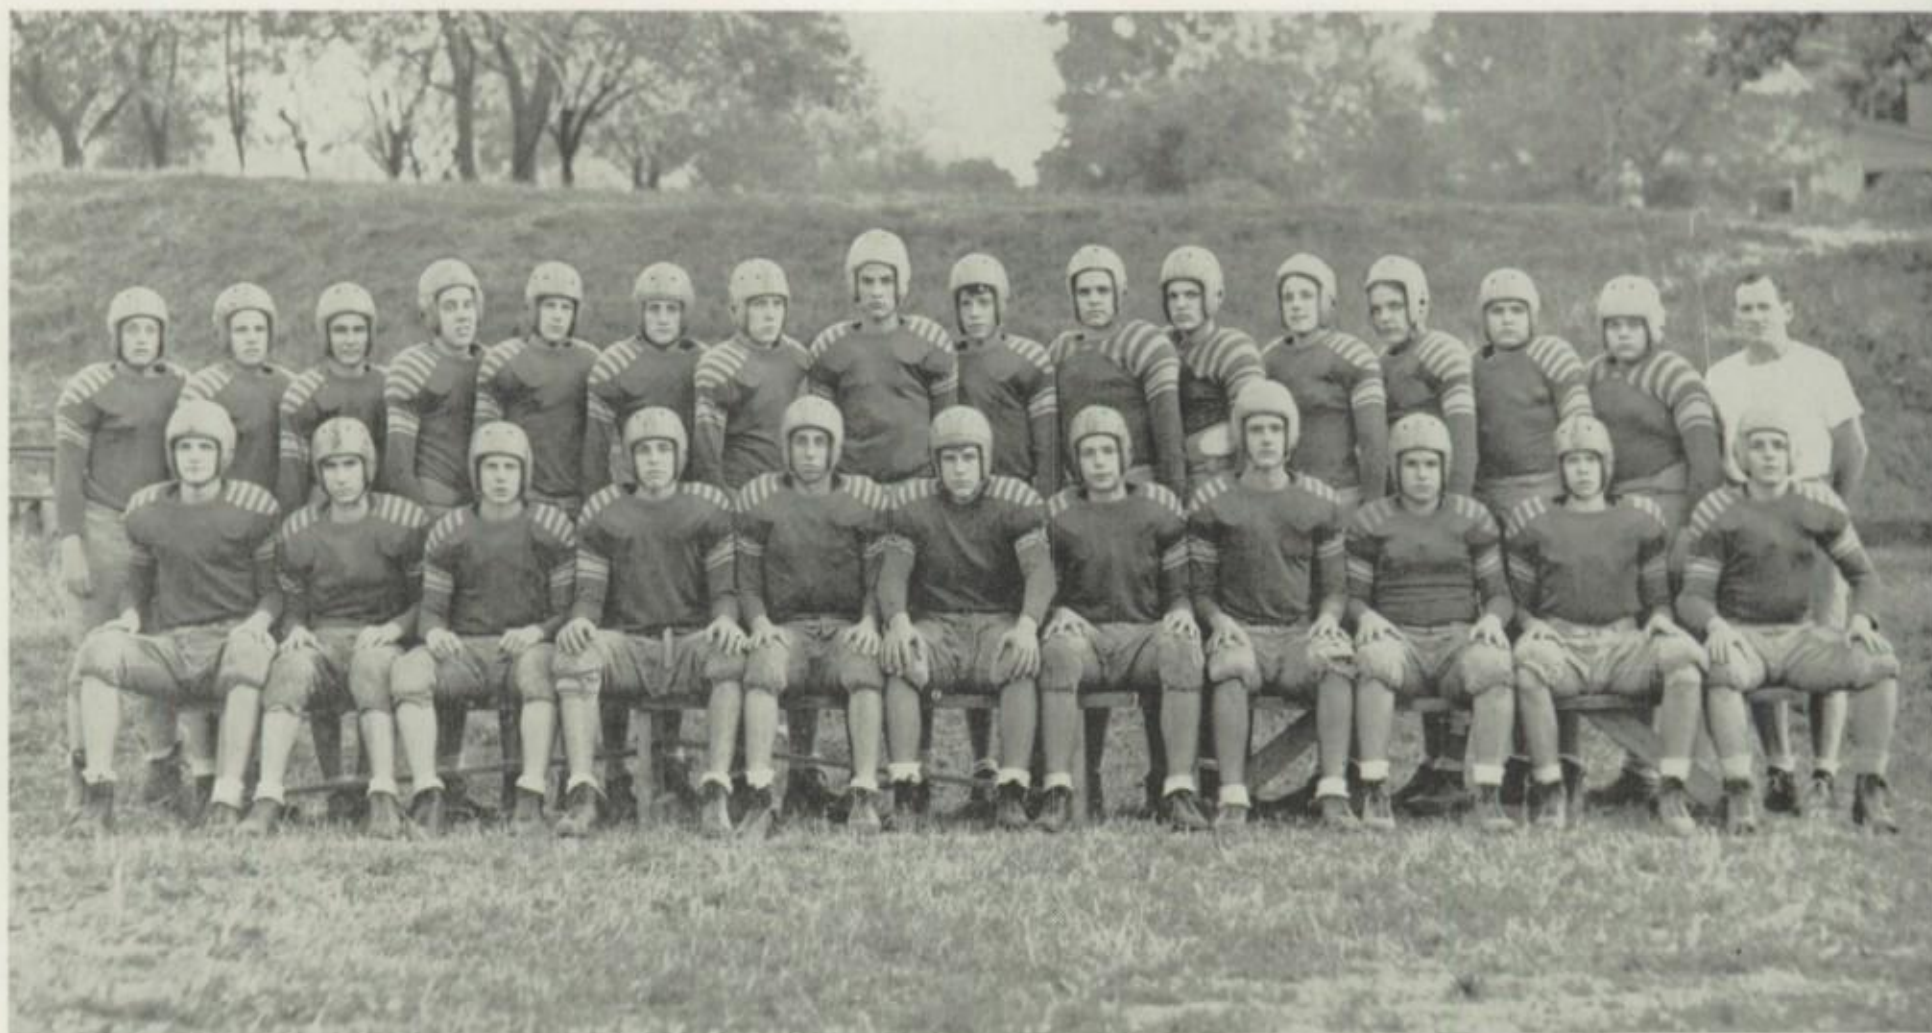

A game with Clayton also proved to be fatal for Burroughs, for Clayton's one point lead at the half rose to 14 points to give Clayton an easy 20 to 6 victory. A muddy field hampered both teams, and permitted mostly line plays.

Roxana provided the final non-league contest for Burroughs, and again the Bombers were defeated. The score was 8 to 0. Burroughs played a sluggish game and was unable to make any threat of scoring.

A dark day for Codasco.

The 1947 "B" football team, coached by Mr. George Staten, easily won the A B C League championship by being victorious in all six games. With men experienced on a championship "C" team and good holdovers, Coach Staten turned out one of the best "B" teams in the history of John Burroughs School.

To start off the season, the "Bulldogs" won from Principia 13—0. The following week they again were victorious in trouncing the Cadets of Western, 20—6. The Statenmen continued their winning ways the next week by defeating a tough Codasco eleven, 7—0.

To start the second round of League play, the "Bulldogs" beat Western again, 13—6, before a large Father and Son's Day crowd. In their best game of the year, Burroughs ran wild over a weak Prin. team to win 46—0. A final 27—0 victory over Codasco left Burroughs with an undisputed League championship.

"C" Football

SECOND ROW: Coach Donald Easum, A. Goldman, Hemker, J. Weinrich, J. Larkin, Mesker, Esserman, Glass, Flint, Campbell, Sibley, Gottlieb, Schleicher, Phillips, J. Zentay, Alcorn, Coach John Martin. FIRST ROW: P. Larkin, Hughes, J. Streett, R. Jones, Day, A. Meyer, Gruenfeld, Kamp, Matthews, D. Read, Stansbury.

The 1947 inexperienced "C" football team, coached by Mr. Don Easum and Mr. John Martin, completed the season with five defeats and one victory, finishing last in League competition. The season was not so poor as the record indicates, since some of the games were quite close and could have easily been won if a few breaks had gone their way.

In the opening game, Burroughs defeated Principia on a slippery field, 8—0. The following week, Burroughs was defeated by a much larger Western team, 13—0. The first half of the season was finished by a stunning 29—0 defeat from Codasco.

In the second tilt with Western, Burroughs lost a heartbreaker, 7—6. The next week, the Junior Bombers again suffered a defeat, 14—0, at the hands of Principia. In the last encounter with Country Day, Burroughs lost a hard fought game, 21—0.

The "A" soccer team had a fairly successful season, finishing in a tie with Western for second place in the A B C League. The soccer team, coached by Dr. Roskopf and Mr. Les Hatchard would have had a much better season, but they had more than their share of bad breaks and injuries.

Playing their first and one of their best games with Chaminade, the Burroughs men won by the score of 3 to 1. This was the only time Chaminade was defeated all season.

The next week, opening League competition against a very strong Country Day team, Burroughs was defeated by the heartbreaking score of 1 to 0.

Journeying to Western the following week, the "A" team, playing a good offensive and defensive game, defeated Western 2 to 1.

In the Bombers' next League encounter, they were defeated by Codasco, the League Champions, 3 to 0.

In their last three League encounters, the Burroughs team won two from Principia by the scores of 2 to 1 and 3 to 0. Playing one of their best games of the season, Burroughs, with all the bad breaks going against them was defeated by Western 1 to 0.

Forsen, Hedley, and Bolin led the team, scoring a number of well-kicked goals.

“B” Soccer

“B” soccer, starting with apparently very little material, finished the season as League Champions under the able coaching of Mr. Martin Parry and Mr. Rowland Hoerr.

The first game with Chaminade was lost 2 to 1, but this not being a League game left some hope for us. Under the best playing conditions of the season, we met Codasco to defeat them 2 to 0. Western was trounced 4 to 0 on their upper field. With three regulars missing from the lineup, the team lost to Country Day in the second game, 1 to 0. Again playing Chaminade, we tied 1 to 1, which was also the score of the first Principia game. Western was beaten again, this time 3 to 1, and the defeat of Prin. by a 3 to 0 score clinched the championship.

Parry's Prancers pretty plucky.

"A" Basketball--1948

The "A" Basketball team came up with second place honors in the A B C League with four wins and two losses. In non-league competition, the Bombers were only able to win two games while losing four. Under the guidance of Mr. Ray Wolfe, the Bombers, with only two remaining lettermen, produced a team that provided plenty of action for the Burroughs fans. The boys should be commended for their fine play throughout the season.

Getting off to a slow start Burroughs lost to Clayton, 49 to 52; to Kirkwood, 27 to 55; and to Chaminade, 36 to 38. After the Normandy Christmas tournament in which the Bombers lost to Beaumont (the city's number one team) and Clayton, Burroughs won their first victory as they swamped Clayton 35 to 19. Hitting their mid-season stride, Burroughs then went on to whip Country Day 29 to 26, and Chaminade, 36 to 29. In the game with Country Day, Burroughs got off to a good half time lead of 7 points. In the second half, however, Codasco started to hit their long shots and pulled within 3 points before the final whistle.

In the next game, the Bombers lost a high scoring contest to the League winning Western team, 51 to 58. The game featured by the 38 points of the Western center, Corbet, was even more exciting than the score indicates, as the Bombers closed a 15 point Western lead to 7 points in the last quarter of the wild game.

Principia then proved to be an easy victory for Burroughs, winning 49 to 40. Principia never really threatened, because the Bombers got off to an early lead and never relinquished it.

The Bombers lost their next game to Country Day, 29 to 38. Dave Sisler, high point man for Burroughs, was unable to play. In this game, Burroughs got off to a bad start and wasn't able to recover.

Burroughs then completed their League games with a smashing 40 to 31 victory over Principia, and an upset victory over Western, 42 to 34. Playing their best game of the year, Burroughs took an early lead over the Cadets, but never got far enough ahead to put the game on ice over the high scoring Western five.

Completing the season in the regional tournament, the Bombers upset St. Mary's team 37 to 36. The game was one of the most exciting of the year, for Burroughs scored the tying and winning baskets in the last minute of play. Burroughs was then defeated by Hancock and Southwest. These defeats put the Bombers out of the running.

The team was a well-rounded group, and the scoring was evenly distributed. The high scorers were Dave Sisler with 144 points, Jim Burst with 121 points, and Ben Bishop with 116 points.

"B" Basketball

The inexperienced John Burroughs "B" Basketball team had a disappointing season, winning only four out of eleven games. The Bulldogs finished last in the League, since they won only one game and lost five. The team, coached by Mr. Edward Read, had bad luck, for they dropped four games by two points and one by a single marker.

To start the season, the Bulldogs played night games at Clayton and Kirkwood, winning both by scores of 28 to 24, and 41 to 20. The next two encounters, one with Chaminade, and the second with Clayton, were each dropped by two points, the scores being 22 to 24, and 15 to 17. The following week, the Bulldogs beat Chaminade, 25 to 19 before the League season started.

During League play, the "B" teamers were again unlucky, as they dropped three very close games, including a one pointer. This last happened during the last second of play in a game with Principia, the score being 31 to 30. Burroughs split a pair of games with Codasco losing the first, 19 to 21, and winning the second 35 to 25. Western beat them twice, 41 to 39, and 45 to 34. Principia, in the final game of the season, trounced the Bulldogs 40 to 29.

"C" Basketball

The John Burroughs "C" team won the championship in their division of the "A B C" League by being victorious in all six of their League games. The team got off to a slow start and Burroughs lost its first game to Chaminade, 21 to 12 and then lost twice to Wydown, 31 to 28 and 13 to 9. Under the guidance of Coach Staten, however, the team improved rapidly and won all seven of their remaining games.

The first two victories, a 21 to 18 defeat over Country Day, and a 28 to 23 triumph over Chaminade, regained for the team some needed confidence, and started them on their winning streak.

To finish the first round of League play, the Junior Bombers took a close game from Western, 31 to 25, and then went on to whip Principia 27 to 19.

The second round proved even easier as Burroughs started to hit the basket more frequently and triumphed over Country Day, 37 to 19; Principia, 32 to 21; and Western, 39 to 23 to win the League title.

Army and Navy

Future greats start young.

Boys in the seventh and eighth grades participate keenly in sports on an intramural basis. At the beginning of the season, four teams, Little Army and Big Army and Little Navy and Big Navy are organized. Throughout the season these teams play a schedule of all seasonal sports, and as in the ABC League, a cup is awarded to the winners on the basis of total victories in all sports during the year. In order that all boys may participate to the fullest extent, both the Army and Navy are split into the two smaller teams, and each boy is placed on a team with others of his own ability. Competition is extremely keen and many good athletes are developing under the capable direction of Coaches George Staten and Ray Wolfe.

To date the Navy is leading in points, but with baseball and Field Day still to come, Army has a very good chance of closing the gap. The competition between Big Army and Big Navy in football was fairly close, with Big Navy holding a slight edge. Big Navy won four games and tied two, while losing only two to Big Army. In the competition between Little Army and Little Navy, Little Navy proved themselves to be the better team. Little Navy won five games, tied two, and lost only one to Little Army.

The Navy, continuing its winning ways, is on its way to becoming undisputed champs of basketball. Out of a total of fifty-four games played up to the time this article was written, the Navy has won thirty-two, while losing twenty-two to the Army.

The spring season promises to be an interesting one, with track and baseball still to be played. Field Day is perhaps the highlight of Army and Navy competition. At this time Senior School members who once played on either the Army or the Navy cheer for their representatives. Parents look on with amazement at the ability of the young athletes in such events as running, hurdling, jumping, pole vaulting, and almost all the other events connected with a regular track meet. Field Day is also the day of announcing the winner of the championship, and the presenting of the cup to the championship team. This presentation is the final climax to the end of a well-rounded education in sports.

The Army-Navy organization is designed primarily to afford the boys as much fun as possible, but attention is given to improving knowledge and skills. Through the seventh and eighth grades, the boys are given a sound background in the learning and improving of fundamental skills of active sports. This training prepares the boys for the stiffer competition of the ABC League.

We note with interest that next year's "C" teams will be greatly aided by the large amount of talent coming up from the Army and Navy.

Army-Navy games invite keen competition.

Seventh Grade Girls

The seventh grade girls participated in a well-balanced physical education program which included hockey, soccer, tennis, tumbling, basketball, baseball, and track. For game purposes the grade was divided into the traditional Blue and Gold squads. Posture improvement was emphasized throughout the year by the coaches, Miss Grace Lammers and Miss Beverly Bullen.

Eighth Grade Girls

The sports program for the eighth grade was carried out by an enthusiastic group of athletes, who, as seventh graders, showed their ability by winning nineteen out of a possible twenty-six Field Day ribbons. In grade eight these girls played tennis, basketball, hockey, baseball, and soccer—all played well.

SECOND ROW: E. Sturgis, J. Rhodes, J. Meisel, G. McCutchen, Hager, Wilson, Lubke, Freund, M. Stark, Slaughter, Wedemeyer, Klein, Shipley, Taylor. FIRST ROW: Green, McHaney, Bartell, C. Metcalfe, Fittge, Gentry, Furlow, V. Wagner, Princell, Hedley, Geissal, Poindexter.

Ninth Grade Girls

The ninth graders experienced their first inter-school competition by taking the measure of Principia in a well played game by a score of 3 to 1. Villa Duchesne upset our team by a 2 to 1 score. Aside from these games, the regular intramural schedule of athletic events was followed.

Tenth Grade Girls

Burroughs Grade Ten girls learned to play a wide variety of games. Beside holding their own in intramural contests, the tenth grade girls achieved glory by defeating both Principia and Villa Duchesne in hockey. This grade is looking forward to Field Day when they hope to show their heels to all other classes.

SECOND ROW: Matthews, S. Price, Boyd, Dazey, Millstone, Rodgers, Lester, Philpott, V. McCutcheon, Hardcastle, Luecking, Strain, Olin. FIRST ROW: Rodes, Fiske, Gillis, Sunnen, Scott, Fischer, Seldin, Penniman, Bland, Trimble, Snow, Harris, Gold.

Eleventh Grade Girls

The Junior girls were active in all the school sports. Several members were on Varsity Baseball and Tennis. Last spring outstanding work on Field Day and in inter-class games accounted for their winning the trophy. Last fall the Juniors had an excellent hockey season. They have won all inter-class games to date and show prospects of keeping up the good work for the rest of the season.

Twelfth Grade Girls

The present Seniors participated strongly in baseball, track, and tennis last spring. Last fall hockey was enjoyed both in the class games played with Villa and Principia and in varsity participation. There were a great number of Seniors out for soccer; the muddier and colder it was, the better the game. The Seniors do especially well in basketball, having one of the tallest classes this school has seen. When the Seniors leave, they will take with them some excellent athletes, and many enthusiastic players.

SECOND ROW: Kerbey, Edison, Mueller, J. Giessow, Dyer, S. Metcalfe, Costen, Heinrich, Draughon, J. Price, Edwards, Gravely. FIRST ROW: Bry, Baker, Deakin, McKinley, Long, Hamilton, Cayce, Weir, N. Jackes, J. Meisel.

Varsity Hockey

The Varsity Hockey teams had an enjoyable season, playing three games. The A team played two games both against Principia. The first game was lost 5-4. Christy Gordon, Sharlee Staten, and Jane Hill made goals. In the second "A" game, Prin won by the close score of 1-0. Although the girls were disappointed at losing by such close scores, they showed great spirit and enthusiasm in every game. The only "B" Varsity game was a fast moving game delayed almost until dark. Burroughs was successful and beat Principia 2-1. The winning goals were made by Nancy Jackes and Betty Bry.

Each player showed increased skill in the game by the end of the season as a result of the excellent coaching of Miss Lammers and her two assistants, Miss Bullen and Miss Elliot. Each teacher had new and different ideas to help us to learn more thoroughly the game of hockey.

Although Seniors, Juniors, and Sophomores were represented on varsity hockey teams, the Juniors far exceeded the others in the number of players. The Juniors had seven regular members on the "A" team, the Seniors had three members on the "A" and five on the "B". Two tenth graders played on the "A" and two on the "B".

The players in the positions were as follows: left wing; C. Gordon, J. Gravely, Left inner; J. Hill, B. Bry, Center forward; S. Staten, V. Goldman, right inner; B. O'Neil, N. Jackes, right

Health and Physical Education

The major purpose of Health and Physical Education is to enable each boy and each girl to develop a healthy body and the habits and knowledge necessary to keep it so. It is for this reason that each pupil is required to engage in physical exercise for two periods each school day, that physical and medical examinations are given at regular intervals, and that classes in health are a part of the school curriculum. In all cases which require specific medical attention, the school medical adviser consults and cooperates with the family physician.

The School has a complete athletic plant including modern gymnasium, locker rooms and showers, first-aid rooms, rest rooms, and excellent equipment for all indoor athletics, games, dancing and other social activities. Ample space is available for outdoor activities. Aside from the spacious athletic fields, one for girls and two for boys, there are six regulation hard surfaced tennis courts.

In the junior school there are separate health classes for boys and girls, meeting once a week throughout the year. Some of the topics considered are first aid and individual health problems, such as avoidance of colds, the need for bathing after exercise, proper rest and sleep, ways to avoid accidents, and the functions of the various parts of the body and the importance of good body posture.

The physical education activities are conducted separately for boys and girls under the direction of men and women experienced in working with children, and who have expert knowledge of the particular activities which they direct.

BOOK THREE

Activities

The liberal form of Student Government of John Burroughs School enables the students to develop good understanding of responsible citizenship. In non-academic activities of their own choice they work together cooperatively and frequently acquire abiding avocational interests.

Student Council

Talking things over.

The Student Council is the Executive Branch of our student government. It is composed of nine members, elected from the student body. Six are from the Senior School, and four from the Junior School. The speaker and Secretary of the Assembly are members ex-officio. The Council elects its own President, Vice-President, and Secretary-Treasurer.

The duties of the Council are to write the rules of student conduct; to call legislative assemblies; to appoint such committees as the Social Committee, the Assembly Committee, and the Steering Committee; and to prepare the student budget.

The Council puts on such drives as the Community Chest and the Red Cross.

This year as one of its extra activities, the Council drew up and submitted the new school "sticker" to the students.

Student Court

Mr. Horner, Petring, Stroud, Maune, Grant, Metcalfe, Millstone.

The Student Court represents the Judicial Branch of Student Government at John Burroughs, and its primary purpose is to see that the responsibilities of Student Government are respected.

The Court is composed of six members and a faculty member. This year the members were Sam Grant, Chief Justice; Sarah Metcalfe, Clerk; Neil Maune, Baliff; and Lou Petring, Bob Stroud, and Mary Ann Millstone, Jurors. Mr. Frederic Horner represented the faculty.

The method of punishing those found guilty was altered this year by the opening of a faculty-supervised Study Hall for all persons violating the Study Hall rules. This penalty, taking the place of Saturday sessions, was given to teach those who are unable to work in the unsupervised study halls how to use their time. The plan proved to be very successful.

The Yearbook

The Yearbook, the most popular publication of John Burroughs School, contains written and photographic records of the activities of the school year of the graduating class.

Meetings of the staff are held weekly. Work on the Yearbook gives the students experience in written composition, and in planning, writing, typing, proofing, and illustrating the school annual. It is the responsible job of the Business Manager to plan the advertising campaigns and to help produce an improved publication.

The 1948 Review has improved the plan of former Yearbooks by publishing an issue which includes more pictures, both formal and informal. The enlargement of the activity and athletic sections is one of the best of its achievements.

The Yearbook presents a complete resume of the year from spring 1947 to spring 1948.

The World

The World, the student newspaper of John Burroughs School, is published every two weeks. Joanne Gravely and Horace Scott, the Chief Editors, and Chris Dyer and Hal Jaspar, the News Editors, worked in partnership, each group alternating in writing the issues. The sports department was well handled by Sarah Metcalfe and John Zentay. Joan La Mothe was a very efficient Business Manager, and Molly Felker produced good pictures for the World. The newspaper, written by a staff of students, is under the able guidance of Mr. Martin L. Parry.

Some of the regular features of the World are Sports; Alumni News; School Activities; special columns, such as the Senior Portraits; and editorials.

Serving on the World Board gives students valuable experience in gathering news, in writing news, and in planning the layout.

The Review

It is the belief of the John Burroughs School that every student should have an opportunity to express himself before the entire school. It is through the Review that the literary accomplishments of the students are exhibited.

This year the unusually large Review Board published an issue in December, March, and May, under the co-editorships of Betty Bry and Nancy Jackes and Miss Evelyn Damon, faculty adviser.

Stories and poems from all grades were brought before the Board, where they were judged critically, and the best ones were then published.

The Review used block prints frequently to decorate the book. They added an enjoyable note to excellent prose and poetry.

The covers for the booklets were selected by Janet Long and Douglas Montgomery.

Photography

The Camera Club this year was under the direction of Dr. Charles K. Sibley. It was composed of Sophomores, all of whom were newcomers to the field of photography. First, the enthusiasts constructed pin-hole cameras and managed to take several good pictures with them before winter. They then studied trick photography, and succeeded in getting some very startling and amusing results. The students have attempted to develop, enlarge, and print their pictures. They are now advancing to the more complicated equipment. A few of the club members made Christmas cards by using a suitable photograph and a prepared greeting. Some of the Biology students have experimented with some photomicrographics to supplement their reports, but they weren't very successful; however, more attempts will be tried later in the year.

Science Club

The Science Club, under the supervision of Mr. Ellsworth Obourn, meets once each week. Students who are not taking some form of science as a course, but who are definitely interested in science, can use the opportunity presented by the Science Club in order to become better acquainted with the techniques, equipment, and knowledge employed by scientists in the field about which they want most to learn. The majority of the members, however, do have among their subjects a course in science. Members having an interest in any phase of science pick a "project" in the field of their choice to be developed and experimented with throughout the year. The projects vary from work with electrical principles and equipment to experiments in sound or chemistry.

Riflery

Mr. Gaylord Montgomery and Miss Beverly Bullen headed the Riflery department this year. At this time it is doubtful whether any boys' matches will be shot this year; however, it is possible that the girls may be able to. Nearly all the students were new to riflery this year. Amazing progress has been made during the year. Many of the students have progressed as much as one rank each week with only one period a week to shoot in. Most of the students will have earned sharpshooter bars. Mary Ann Millstone and Dick Strassner got Distinguished Rifleman medals, the highest possible honor for them to get.

SECOND ROW: V. McCutcheon, Sisler, Gordon, S. Pruett, Rhodes. FIRST ROW: Bolin, Miss Lammers, Mr. Staten, Bry.

J. Glessow, Edwards, Werber.

SECOND ROW: Thies, Long, Forsen, S. Price, Werner, Hill. FIRST ROW: Mr. Wolfe, Miss Cutts, Miss Lammers, Mr. Staten.

Athletic Council

The Athletic Council has a representative from each advisory group, starting with the ninth grade. The representatives are elected at the beginning of each school year. The main function of the Athletic Council is to preside at the Athletic Banquet and make plans for the Banquet. This year, with Miss Lammers and Coach Staten as the faculty advisors, the Athletic Council spent much time in discussing future sports events.

The Steering Committee

The Steering Committee is a very vital part of John Burroughs School. It is managed by three students; two Seniors, Barbara Edwards and Joan Giessow and one Junior, Dorothy Werber. Its work concerns and affects the whole school. It is the weekly job of one member of the committee to make a list of the events of the coming week, which includes the time and place of games, visitors that come to the school, and anything else which would interest either the students or the teachers. The list is mimeographed and is posted in every advisory.

The committee planned to give a more accurate and extensive report this year, and we truly believe they did. Accurate steering by expert helmsmen did wonders for school spirit and enthusiasm toward games and social and academic activities.

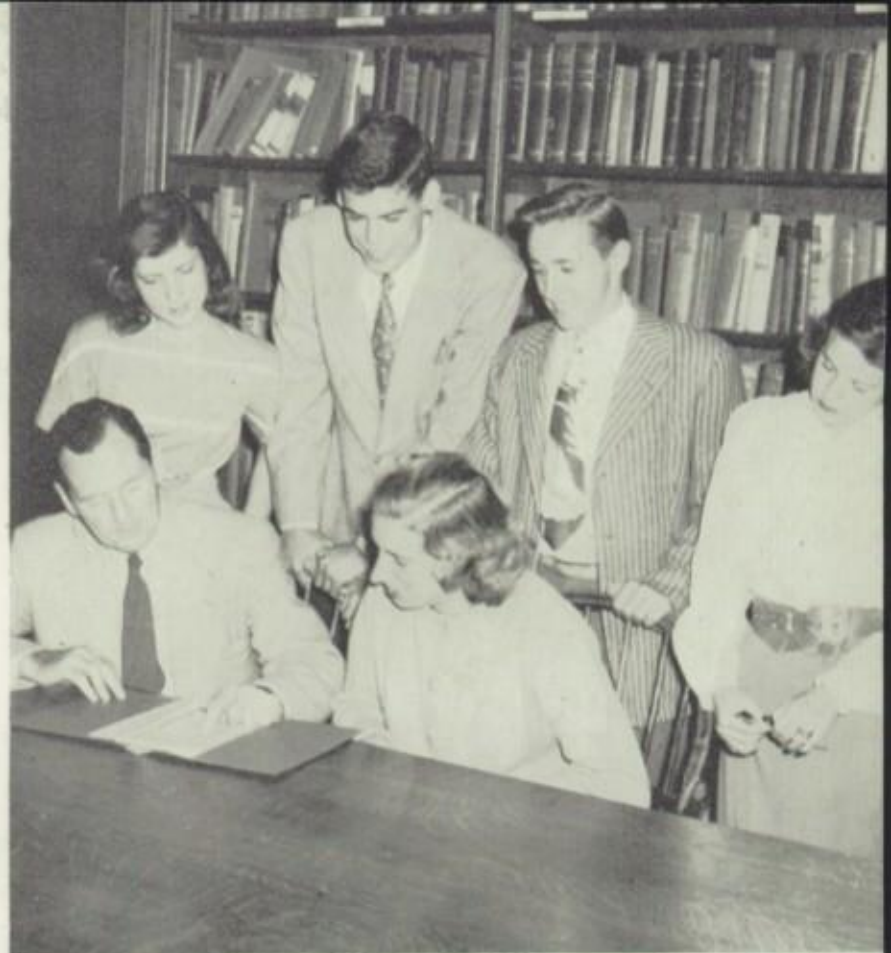

The Social Committee

This year the Social Committee has done a "bang-up" job. Aside from an open house in the beginning of the fall term, at which movies and refreshments were provided, there were two other events.

As it was Burroughs turn to have the annual Burroughs-Codasco football dance, the Committee worked and slaved in order to come up with a very successful dance. The decorations and food were marvelous and every one agreed that he had had a grand time. All that and Russ David too!

To wind things up, the Committee sponsored another dance which was held in February. This represented the end of the first semester. It served also as a great celebration for the ending of mid-year examinations. Dirk Lami and his orchestra provided the music.

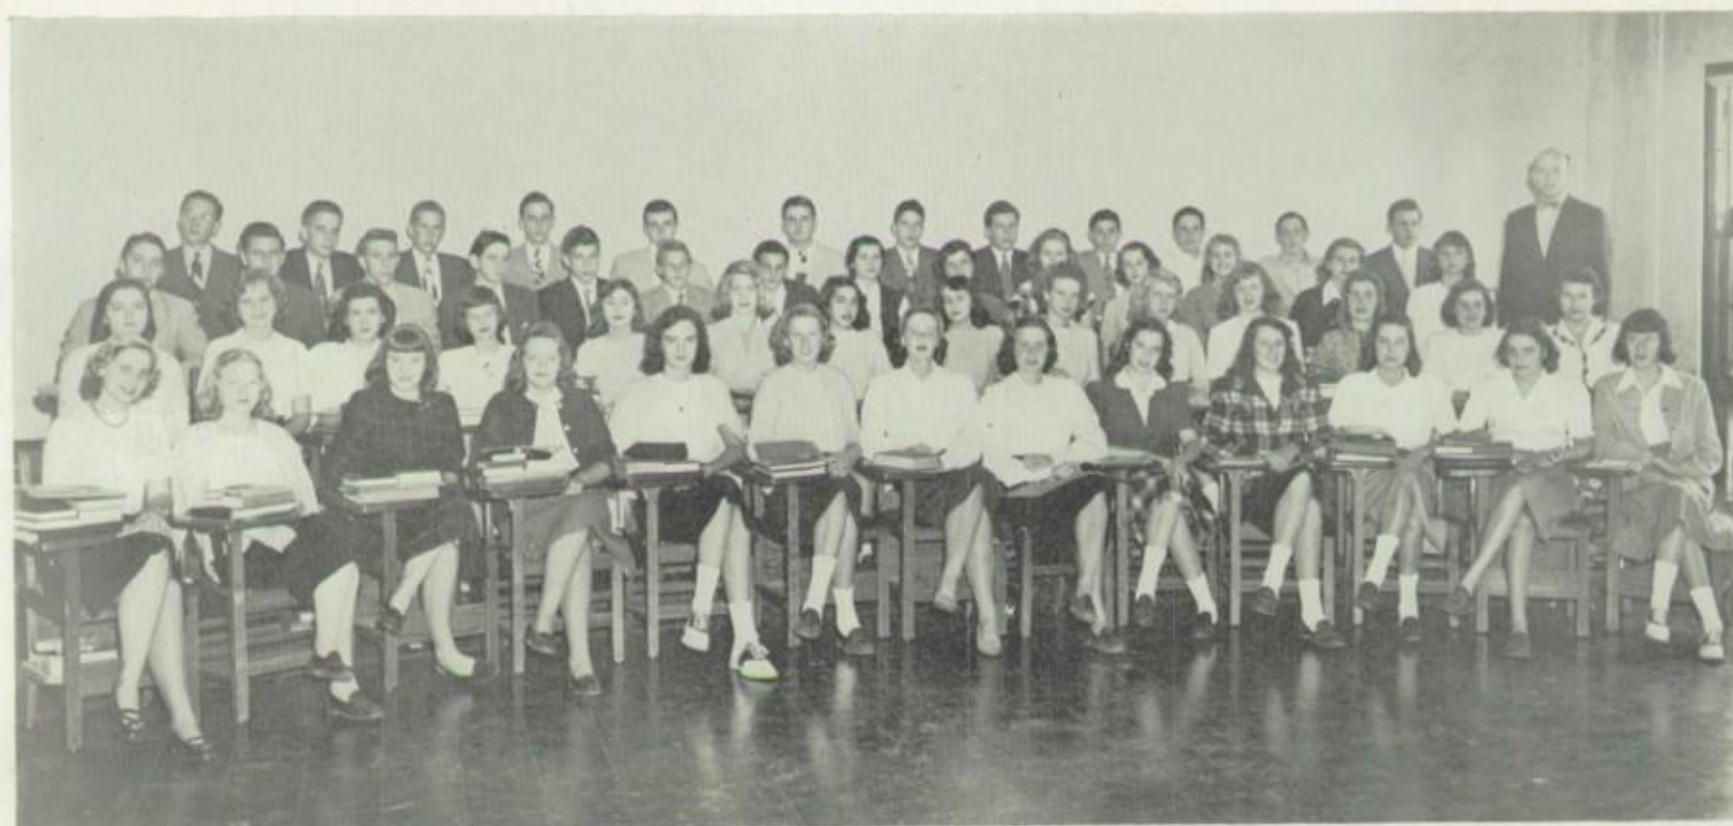

Despite the fact that some of the faculty members of the Social Committee were new to the John Burroughs School this year, the Committee could not have done nearly so well without their able assistance.

GLEE CLUB

The Glee Club has given many outstanding performances this year under the direction of Mr. Weinrich. In the fall the Glee Club took part in the dedication ceremonies of the new gym. There have been a number of singing assemblies throughout the year. The Glee Club gave an outstanding performance in the Christmas Pageant, and made a hit at the March 18 celebration. The Operetta, PATIENCE, which was given in the spring, ended the year.

JUNIOR CHORUS

The Junior Chorus of John Burroughs School is a very fine establishment for the pupils of the chorus, and also the audiences. In the Junior Chorus we learn how to read and appreciate music. The Junior Chorus has participated in the Christmas Pageant; one of its best solos was "O Holy Night." The younger pupils also accompanied the Glee Club in two songs. Every year the Chorus improves, but this year is has shown even more advancement.

The Orchestra

The orchestra, directed by Mr. Ralph Weinrich, was an unusually active organization, having made more appearances this year than in the past few years. Its first appearance was made the time it played a selection in a music assembly. On November 27, the orchestra accompanied the choruses in the gymnasium dedication ceremony. For the first time in the history of John Burroughs, the entire orchestra played in the Christmas Pageant. Early in the spring, at the school Open House on March 18, the orchestra played in order that the parents might hear that phase of activities program.

This year, the orchestra consisted of both Junior and Senior School students; however, the majority of the members were Junior School violinists who will actively participate in the orchestra for several years to come.

Music Maestro, Please!

Glass, Gerlach, J. Perkins, D. Read, Howie, K. Read, Harrison, Gentry, E. Sturgis, Montgomery, Green, Mr. Weinrich, May.

Painting

The Department of Painting, supervised by Mrs. Mabel Meeker Edsall and her able assistant Mr. Fred Dreher, has an air of informality and friendliness equalled by few other departments. In one studio, the walls of which are decorated by the productions of the students, pupils are encouraged to express themselves in the graphic art. Students have a free choice of subject matter and may use a variety of materials.

The Department correlates with many of the other departments throughout the school, and plays a part in numerous activities: illustrating the "Review," setting up still lifes for Photography, and especially designing the Christmas tableau. The painting department also lends a hand in the designing of dance and play scenery.

Sculpture

Under the guidance of Mrs. Janis assisted by Miss Mary Love, the sculpture students have been offered many opportunities to develop their talents. There was an unusual number of individually talented students this year. Many of the Junior School students did work for their Latin classes. The sculpture of students may be glazed, cast in concrete, or cast in plaster. A number have made plaster piece molds. The addition of a potter's wheel has been a great asset to the sculpture department, and has been used a great deal. The students in this department receive not only a knowledge and understanding with which they may appreciate the sculptural masterpieces of any era, but receive a knowledge which aids them in many vocations.

Home Economics

This year the students taking Home Economics under the direction of Miss Koffel, learned the practice of many useful household arts. The seventh and eighth grades were taught the basic clothing processes, food preparation, and good grooming. The ninth grade students instruction included wardrobe planning, clothing construction, nutrition, and a new unit congruent with shop, in the care of equipment in the home. Among other things that the Senior School students studied were advanced methods of clothing construction, alteration, pattern alteration, pressing techniques, and material textures.

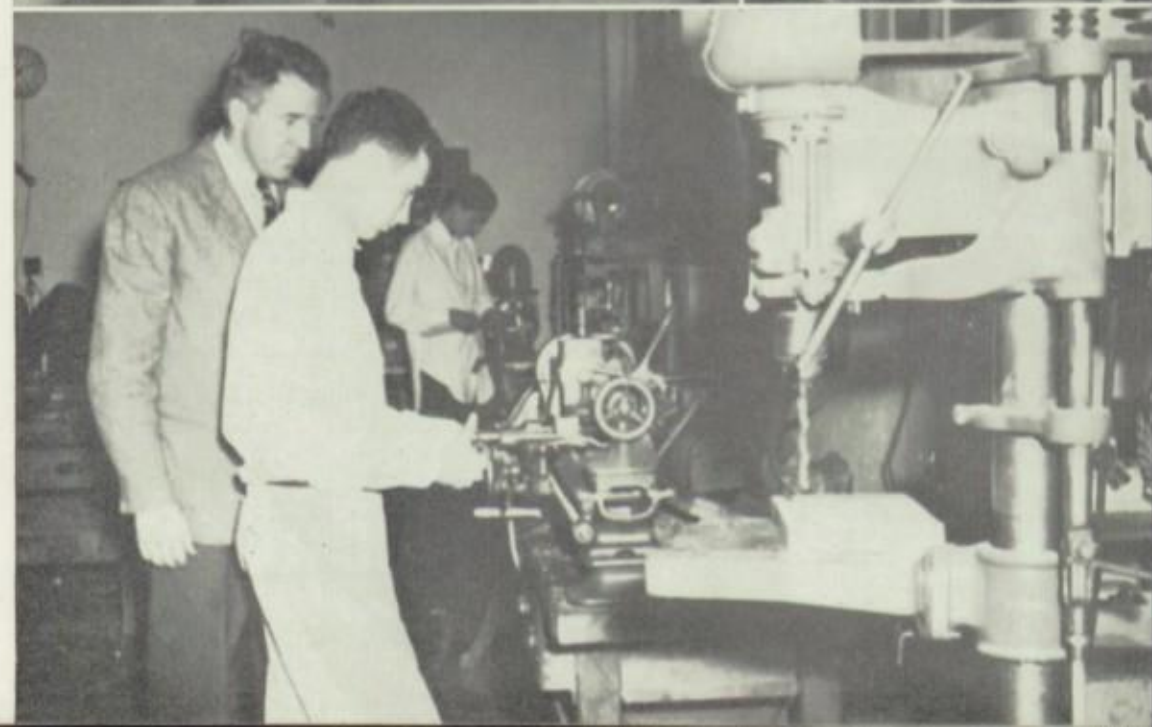

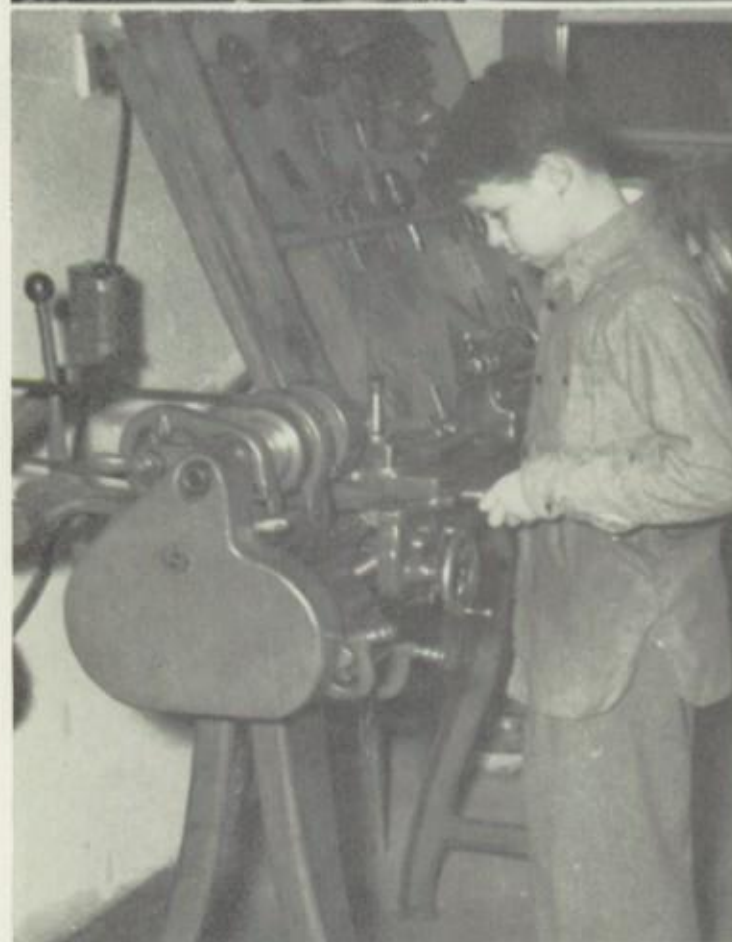

In addition to the regular instruction courses, several senior Home Economic students for the first time undertook the construction of the Christmas Pageant's costumes. The costumes for the play "Trojan Women" were made in this department.

Industrial Arts

This year the shop has received a new finish; the ceiling has been sound-proofed, and the machines and work benches have been painted. The walls are now a light green, a color which will ease eye strain. Some new machines have been added, including a planer, a large drill press, a sander, and another grind wheel.

The shop, under the direction of Mr. Frank Schmidt and Mr. Howard Blossom, has been the scene of feverish preparations for the Leap Year, the Prom, the March 18th exhibit, and various dramatic productions, as well as the usual workshop. The younger boys have undertaken some novel projects. Some of the boys, under the direction of Mr. Blossom, have constructed small kyacks. Metal work has been more popular with the older boys. The mechanical drawing department has had both boys and girls working at its desks.

BOOK FOUR

Social Life

The social life in John Burroughs School is a well-balanced plan of serious and light activities. Dramatics, Christmas Pageant, and Athletic Banquet constitute the serious; school dances, class parties, and informal get-togethers make the lighter side.

Dramatics

"Desperate Desmond," a melodrama of deep pseudo-emotion, and "The Trojan Women," a tragedy of great significance, marked the range of dramatic interpretation by the Theater Arts classes conducted by Miss Patricia Gamble. The celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the school curtailed dramatic activities because student energy was directed toward the general exhibition of curriculum activities. Dramatics did, however, play an important part. Demonstrations of acting technique, the art of make-up, and scene designing were given by dramatic students on March 18. The season of 1948-49 promises to be an excellent one.

Christmas Pageant

On December 19, over a thousand eager spectators witnessed the twenty-fourth annual Christmas Pageant, which was presented for the first time in the beautiful new Gymnasium. The two narrators, William Hedley and Sarah Metcalfe, related the story of the birth of Christ, and at frequent intervals the Junior Chorus and Glee Club sang carols, and other beautiful Christmas songs. The lovely tableau, designed by Ruth Heinrich, represented the manger scene with a bright star shining in the background. Mary and Joseph were portrayed by Carol Draughton and James Caselton. Mary McKinley, Carol Deakin, Lexie Hill, and Donald Rosenfeld were angels. While the tableau was being revealed, Martha Cayce sang "Mary's Lullaby." Sandra Carver, Frances May, Susan Carr, George Billmeyer, Peter Walsh, Tom Bitting, and Leigh Strassner were book holders.

Junior Prom

The members of '48, determined to outdo all previous Junior Classes in entertaining the Seniors and other guests at the Junior Prom, realized their highest hopes on Friday night, May 9. Preparations for the event were seriously made and the theme of the party, "Moonlight and Roses" was carried out exceedingly well through the decoration scheme designed by Mary McKinley.

Every member of the class participated in the program, but special mention should be made about the construction work of Bob Stupp, Leonard Furlow, and Van Dyne McCutcheon. They did their work with neatness and dispatch.

Russ David's orchestra performed very well and gained much good will as a result of taking only two short intermissions.

The small gymnasium, as well as the large gym, was decorated by a magnificent arrangement of roses. Refreshments were served there throughout the evening.

Guests were lavish in their praise of the decoration scheme in the large gymnasium. The beautiful white lattice work along the four walls and the roses climbing up created a symbol of spring and freshness never before approximated in gymnasium decorations.

Another feature of the party was use of all available dancing space. In other years, junior classes lost sight of guest-comfort in their desire to make decoration the important thing. All too frequently decorations were too far from the walls, thereby limiting floor space. The class of 1948 did not make such a mistake. As a result, the more than 400 guests had ample room for dancing and observing.

The class of 1948 will always feel indebted to Miss Dorothy Gilbert and Mr. Ellsworth Obourn, advisers, for their help and guidance in the planning of the Junior Prom. To put it bluntly, they made the class meet deadlines; they saw to it that the post-party clean-up activities were carried out carefully.

Leap Year Dance

The traditional Senior girls' Leap Year dance, held in the girls' gymnasium for the edification of the young couples and chaperones and for the solvency of The John Burroughs School Yearbook was indeed a gala occasion. Ann Larimore designed the decoration scheme upon the most unusual theme of all time—"Under Water." The marine atmosphere was beautifully built up by sea-horses, shell fish, and other fish, swimming blithly along the walls, without thought of moving.

The more than three hundred guests were delighted by the exquisite thunder of Brad Safrin and his music makers. Many ninth grade girls, attending a Leap Year dance for the first time, began to look ahead three years, when, according to one of them, "We shall have an 'in the air' theme for our Leap Year! Then we can fill the sky with air-planes." Such is the power of imagination!

The Senior girls were ably assisted by their popular adviser, Mrs. Chester Williamson, who gave unstintingly of her time to make the party a success.

The Yearbook board takes the opportunity to thank the girls for their loyal support which poured a goodly number of dollars into the coffers of this very needy publication.

THE NEW WORLD OF METAL

*Contributing To Your Protection,
Comfort and Well-Being.*

Bronze and its first cousin, brass, went into the service of human progress when man's only home was a cave. Today the whole world benefits from the countless new products of American industry . . . products in which brass is playing a major role in the fields of electronics, transportation, communication, personal and household conveniences.

Being man-made, the usefulness of brass and all the other copper-base alloys is limited only by the skill, resourcefulness and research that go into their making. At Western Brass Mills, sheets, strips, long coils and drawn and fabricated parts of these metals are made with the exactitude of a pharmacist filling a prescription. Where special temper, ductility, rigidity or finish is required, Western delivers metal as specified . . . tailor-made to the individual requirement.

New uses for Western metals turn up day by day. As each evolves, special problems must be met. For, while all products seek to change and improve the shape of everyday living, none can successfully deny the basic laws of chemistry and metallurgy. These laws guide us in the making of every pound of Western metal. We sell not mere metal, but the opportunity for manufacturers to reduce production costs, increase the serviceability and all 'round value of their products.

It is Western's old-time habit of keeping abreast of all that is new that makes all of the other divisions of Olin Industries so proud of their mutual partnership with progress.

What makes Miracle-Tuft the quality leader
at 50¢?

IT'S SEALED IN GLASS

Miracle-Tuft's
"Exton" brand bristling is stronger, longer lasting. It's exclusive with Dr.
West's. Cleans
teeth better.

"EXTON" BRAND BRISTLING

IT'S SHAPED TO FIT

IT'S WATERPROOFED

It all adds up to this—It's the Miracle Toothbrush Value!

It's so essential to health and beauty, people want the best when they buy a brush. No wonder, then, that Dr. West's Miracle-Tuft is overwhelmingly America's No. 1 choice for cleaner teeth, more sparkling smiles!
Thirty million sales last year proved that Miracle-Tuft is

Kids are proud of the darndest things

Johnny's got something new and different. No wonder he's proud. Who ever heard of a fracture cast that could be worn in the water without being ruined?

This new type of cast offers many advantages to the wearer and to the medical profession. Its possibilities in hydrotherapy are most significant.

Open-mesh, elastic bandages—knitted from a combination of plastic yarns and strong, non-shrinking, non-stretching Fiberglas yarns—are immersed in a setting solution and firmly wrapped around the fractured limb. In a matter of minutes the bandage sets . . . results in a cast that is at once rigid, extremely strong, very lightweight, and cool because it is porous.

Fiberglas is the trade mark for the glass yarns used in knitting these bandages, and for a variety of products made of or with glass fibers by Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corporation, Toledo, Ohio.

Chances are that your refrigerator, freezer, range, water heater—yes, your home, too—are insulated with Fiberglas in one of its several forms—and, if you heat with a forced-warm-air furnace or air-conditioner, then you're probably enjoying air free from dust and lint because it is filtered through DUST-STOP Air Filters—another Fiberglas product. Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corporation, Toledo 1, Ohio.
